JAMES E. FERGUSON
AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 11.—Restoration of the civil and political rights lost to former Governor James E. Ferguson by virtue of his impeachment in 1917 for mismanagement of state funds, was clearly up to the house of representatives today. Climaxing a four hour debate, the senate early last night adopted an amnesty bill, 21 to 6, and sent it to the house for final consideration.

Edison Away From Home On Birthday

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 11.—It doesn't seem like February 11 here in East Orange today, for Thomas A. Edison, this village's most distinguished citizen, is out of town, and his usual birthday interview, which always brought a horde of writers to town, will not be forthcoming.

INDIANS MAKE LAST STAND AGAINST ENCROACHMENT OF WHITE MAN IN NEW MEXICO

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 11.—In the arid, semi-mountainous country near Cuba, N. M., the red man today made his last stand against the ever encroaching white man's civilization. One Indian brave was dead because he cut posts from land he believed his own. He was shot down when he rushed at Constable Blanchfield, swinging the butt end of his rifle.

Crowds on Beach See Surf Pound Sailing Ship; Shipping Paralyzed

LONDON, Feb. 11.—An ocean liner, reported stranded off Walton-On-the-Naze in a terrific gale which swept the English coast, passed safely through the storm this afternoon while a large sailing vessel, whose distress signals have long been known as the "graveyard of ships."

WILLIAMS M. JARDINE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—William M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, probably will be appointed secretary of agriculture, it was learned at the capitol today.

LOWLAND RESIDENTS WARNED OF DANGER

Train Service Disrupted, Communication With District Cut Off

WILLOWS, Calif., Feb. 11.—Trapped by the sudden rise of Walker creek near here, due to the heavy rains, an unidentified man and woman were reported marooned on an island in the middle of the stream early today.

Shanghai to Be Made Peaceful

SHANGHAI is to be "demilitarized," its arsenals, barracks and forts dismantled, and all armies withdrawn and forbidden to return. Then for the first time it will be safe. This does not quite confirm the pacifists' contention that the less protection you have the safer you are, but it illustrates that it is at least true in China.

The World Is Still With Us

THE WORLD is still here, after all, following its "coming to an end" once more just as it has been, always, after similar prophecies. But there are certain temperaments which learn nothing by experience. The sort that sees "prophecies" in the delusions of disordered minds in one of them. There is nothing to set against this, however, but the facts. And facts, to these minds, are negligible.

Nevada and the Dry Law

THE NEVADA senate asks congress to call a convention to propose changing the eighteenth amendment from imperative prohibition to a mere enabling act. What other congress to enact either regulatory or prohibitory laws. Of course it won't be done. But what would be the situation if it were? Prohibition is the one question on which the minority submits only when it must.

Hurting Them and Our 'Feelings'

A CRAZY little girl in Los Angeles, who says she murdered her sisters, explains that she wanted to see them suffer, "because it made me feel good."

Would Cut Cash Let Aside for Visit of Prince

LONDON, Feb. 11.—An attack on the Prince of Wales' forthrightness to South Africa and South America is to be made in the house of commons by David Kirkwood, labor member, according to present plans.

Consul Secretary Target for Bullet

PRAGUE, Feb. 11.—Ernest Power, secretary of the American consulate, narrowly escaped being hit by a stray bullet today as crowds rioted and fought through the streets of Prague, following a monster demonstration to protest against the high cost of food.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG BUILDING IN WINDY CITY

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—A furious fire, fanned by a stiff breeze, burned in a five story building in the heart of the loop shopping district today. The structure is on State street, jammed next to a large office building and across a narrow alley from the Fair, one of the largest department stores in the city.

$135,000 Damages Sought by Woman

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Suit for $135,000 damages against Albert F. Chamberlain, Pasadena insurance man, charging assault, has been filed in the county clerk's office here by Mrs. Joan L. Shinner, of Sacramento.

"30" BULLETINS

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Another outburst of selling today drove wheat down to $1.78, a loss of 6 cents from yesterday's close. The selling followed reports that the supply of world's breadstuffs was larger than believed and that no shortage exists. The low today was $1.77 1/2 a bushel, while the high point was $1.87 3/4.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11.—One of the most sensational cuts in wheat prices ever experienced here was noted on the Merchants' Exchange today. In cash basis bids, hard white wheat dropped 25 cents to $1.75 while other grades took big cuts. The least drop was 10 cents for Big Bend Bluestem, which was bid for at $2.10.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Chicago fruit auction, Oranges 10@15 cents off; best, $3.40@5.60; medium $3.20@4.35. Lemons, 25 cents up; best, $5.15@6.25; medium $4.35@6.50.

$2000 IN LOOT IS TAKEN BY HOLD-UP TRIO

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Three bandits, one of whom was wounded in a gun battle with a policeman, held up the Sanchez street branch of the Mercantile Trust company here today and escaped with $2000.

WOULD EXCHANGE NATIONALS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 11.—The Ankara government will ask the League of Nations to sanction exchange of Greeks in Constantinople against Turks in western Thrace.

ASKS LEAGUE TO INTERFERE

GENEVA, Feb. 11.—A Greek note has been received by the League of Nations requesting intervention in the affair of the patriarch Constantinos, who was expelled from Constantinople by the Turks.

REPORT LOAN TO BAVARIA

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—The Tagblatt says that New York bankers have loaned Bavaria $30,000,000 at 6 1/2 per cent interest.

The Biggest and Best Advertising For Santa Ana and Orange County

The letter writing campaign of the Santa Ana Advertising Club, in co-operation with that of the Los Angeles Times, as a means of combating anti-California propaganda, is a fine thing, and The Register hopes its readers will co-operate heartily. Of course those who do will put something in their letters about Santa Ana and Orange county, but the main object of the letters should, and no doubt will be, to stamp the anti-California propaganda as not only absolutely false but in many instances mendaciously so.

ANTI-TOXIN TO REACH NOME ON SATURDAY

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 11.—The new supply of serum expected to help deal the final crushing blow to the diphtheria epidemic here, will probably reach Nome Saturday, according to radio advices from Anchorage today.

DOG TEAMS MAKE GOOD TIME

Dog teams working in fast relays were moving Kaltag on the Yukon trail after a fast relay at Nulato. From Kaltag they will leave the Yukon, cut across the Tundra to Norton Sound, circle its ice shelf to Golovin bay, then make the final dash to Nome.

TRY MENTAL TEST IN POISON PROBE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 11.—All hope of solving the mystery of the strychnine poisonings at Ohio State university rested today with the scope of psychiatry.

Call Confab On Farm Financing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—R. A. Cooper, farm loan commissioner, and A. C. Williams, members of the farm loan board, will hold a conference on livestock financing at Los Angeles February 16 to consider the livestock situation and organization of livestock loan companies to aid in financing the cattle industry. It was announced at the White House today.

Suspend Doctor's License 2 Years

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Dr. James T. Martin, of Long Beach, was found guilty today of misusing his medical license at a hearing before the state board of examiners. He was placed on probation for two years, during which time his license will be under revocation.

Violent Winds in North

Violent winds were reported from the northern part of the state. Several buildings were unroofed at Weed and minor damage done in other places. Communications have been cut off with rural settlements.

Society

Capistrano Y. L. I.

The Valentine party enjoyed last night at Knights of Columbus hall by the members of Capistrano Y. L. I. will long remain a pleasant memory for those fortunate enough to attend. There was a record attendance and a pleasant reunion as a consequence.

The hall had been beautifully decorated by the committee headed by Miss Ada Markel. Delicate pastels and the brilliant red colors of the Valentine season made the scene a beautiful one.

Following a brief business session, during which one application for membership was read, the jolly crowd played the jollier game of buncos, each one wearing a gay cap centered with a heart. The handsome prizes were won by Mrs. Olivo Lopez, Mrs. Ed Kolbe, Miss Rita Brogan and Mrs. Ella Naylon.

The small tables were then centered with lovely red baskets filled with candies, and ice cream and cake in the prevailing colors and hot chocolate were served by the committee, of which Mrs. U. J. Engelmann was chairman.

The next meeting coming on February 24, the day before Ash Wednesday, a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a merry meeting.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE TALKS AT INSTITUTE

A talk by Roland E. Dye, scout executive, on the 15th anniversary of the Boy Scout organization and the repeating of the scout oath featured the session of the Scoutmasters' Training institute in the American Legion home last night.

Dye told of growth of the Boy Scouts, of the unselfishness of the men who sponsored the organization, and stated that 700,000 boys are enrolled as members.

Tonight the men attending the training school will receive swimming and life-saving instructions at the Y. M. C. A. pool. R. R. Russick, physical director of the Y; Elmer Heidt, manager of the local office of the Auto club, and Don Anderson will be in charge of the lessons.

An outdoor meeting of the future Scoutmasters will be held at Orange county park February 21, from 2 to 9 o'clock. H. R. Chessman, Glendale, and George Walker, San Bernardino, both scout executives, will be in charge of the meeting.

The final meeting of the institute will be held in the Legion home March 3. The executive council will also meet on that date at the same place.

FAMED CANVAS IS DISPLAYED AT S. A. STORE

"The Man of Galilee", celebrated masterpiece of Carl Thomtaylor, Danish artist, is on display at the J. C. Horton Furniture store. The picture is not only the masterpiece of the Danish genius, but is also said to be one of the truly great paintings of the world of art.

The picture, 8 1/4 by 10 feet, is valued by its owners at $80,000. It pictures Christ in the attitude of sublime spiritual reverence, his face buried in prayer, upon the mountains of Capernaum, overlooking the Sea of Galilee. The evening star glows in the sky like a point of light and soft beams of moonlight play upon the Saviour's form.

Paul Fontaine of Fort Worth, Texas, the art collector who secured the painting from the artist, brought the picture to Santa Ana.

THREE GO TO JAIL ON MOTOR CHARGES

Two men received jail sentences on speeding charges and another was given a five-day sentence in the Orange county jail on a charge of "cutting in," in Justice Kenneth E. Morrison's court today, the regular speeders' day.

Bench warrants for several others, who failed to appear, were issued.

Ben Morago, Monrovia, charged with making two bad "cut ins" on the Irvine boulevard, several days ago, was given a five-day term, and W. Giller, Los Angeles youth, charged with speeding 55 miles an hour on the Irvine boulevard, on February 1, and Edward Jacoby, 551 McArthur street, San Pedro, were each sentenced to five days in jail.

Jacoby was charged with speeding only 45 miles an hour. He was in an expensive car, but told Justice Morrison he would rather have the five days than to pay a fine of $45. He will begin his sentence tomorrow.

Other speeders paid the following fines: E. J. Mitchell, Huntington Beach, 45 miles per hour, $35; Ridley C. Smith, Riverside, cutting in, $20; J. H. Warriag, San Pedro, 45 miles per hour, $45; William Lynch, 45 miles per hour, $45.

Catholics Clash With Communists

AVIGNON, France, Feb. 11.—Emerging from a meeting at which protest was voiced against the government's action in abolishing the vatican embassy, some two thousand Catholics found themselves confronted with about an equal number of Communists today. Fighting started but police intervened vigorously. No one was seriously hurt.

To be sold to the highest bidder Wednesday, Feb. 18, 2:30 p. m. This is a 6-room house and two lots, 93-125. One block north of hospital; walnuts and fruit. See Crasner Realty Co., 310 N. Main street.

Clue to Slayer

of Rich Rancher

SUISUN, Cal., Feb. 11.—The murder of Lee Branscombe, wealthy Solano county rancher, was sought today with only the approximate size of his shoes as a clue to his identity.

Branscombe was shot through the left eye sometime Monday and his body found slouched over a chair in his ranch cabin near Branden station, where he had gone to look at a flock of sheep.

Footprints outside the shattered window showed where the murderer had stood when he fired the fatal shot.

The body was brought here last night and an inquest probably will be held today.

City and county authorities have been asked to aid in the search for Robert Beasler, 13-year-old Anaheim boy, who is missing from his home and who is thought to have come to Santa Ana. He was described as being approximately four feet, 10 inches in height and

FREE WOMAN

ARRESTED IN FORGERY CASE

Mrs. Ethel Belt, of Garden Grove, whose husband claims she raised a $5 check to $500 and then cashed it at a Santa Ana bank, will be at liberty on her own recognizance until her preliminary hearing, which is set for February 16 at 9 a. m. in Justice K. E. Morrison's court.

Whether the check was the cause of a break that is said to have occurred between the couple is not known, but they have separated since the incident occurred,
January 23. Henry Belt, the husband, filed the criminal charge.

The Belts had been married only about four months when the matter of the check occurred. According to the authorities, Belt complained that the check claimed a succession of intrusions on the Belt bank roll. Their honeymoon was said to have been marred by the incident.
Belt told the authorities that his wife cost him $4,000 in four months.

Mrs. Belt denies committing any criminal offense in connection with the raised check. When arraigned before Justice Morrison she declared that she had raised the amount of the check before her husband signed it.

Police News

W. H. Dixon, 1308 Cypress street, reported to police yesterday that a quantity of lumber had been stolen by boys from a place near 1404 Orange avenue.

Jack Johnson, 16, 1051 West Chestnut street and George Planeta, 20, were arrested last night by Officer R. S. Elliott and are being held on a charge of fighting. They "mixed" at the carnival grounds, at Third and Birch streets, according to the police report.

Three arrests were made yesterday inside the city limits for violations of state motor laws. C. Wood, and Vernon Heckart, the latter of 1017 South Main street, were apprehended on charges of reckless driving, and Ralph Bright, 2718 East Seventh street, Long Beach, was nabbed on a speeding charge. Motorcycle Officers H. D. Jaynes and V. Barnhill made the arrests.

Elmer Ross, 17, and Lloyd Moudy, 18, were brought to the Orange county jail last night from La Habra on a petit larceny charge.

Adelbert W. Rail, 17, was caught hiding behind a box car last night in the railroad yards, according to Officer J. W. Murray, who brought him to the police station and lodged a charge of vagrancy against him. He will be given a hearing today before City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Manuel Gonzales, 23, was arrested in Long Beach yesterday, on a warrant from this county. He was brought to the county jail last night by Chief Criminal Deputy Ed McClellan.

REGENTS WILL VIEW 'U' SITE AT FULLERTON

The board of regents of the University of California were scheduled today to lunch at Fullerton with a group of business men of that city and later to inspect the 1000-acre tract offered as a site for the southern branch of the university.

The visit to Fullerton was arranged at a meeting of the board yesterday in Los Angeles, when various site offers were presented. The Fullerton offer being presented by J. A. Prizer, manager of the Placencia Fruit Growers' association, who made a five-minute talk and presented a brief, supplementary to the one filed with the board some weeks ago.

Questions by Governor Friend W. Richardson and other members of the board indicated an interest in the Fullerton site. Railroad transportation and available water supply were the particular points of interest.

After the meeting yesterday it was unofficially announced that the board probably would make announcement of its site selection at a session to be held in San Francisco on March 10.

While Governor Richardson, who presided at the meeting, said that consideration would be given to every offer made, it virtually was conceded that the contest had narrowed to four sites—Beverly Hills, Burbank, Palos Verdes and Fullerton. The board was to make a special inspection of the four sites today, going to Fullerton after visiting the Palos Verdes tract.

R. W. Pridham, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, presented a resolution of that organization urging that the branch be kept within the city limits of that city.

Representatives of the Vermont-avenue neighborhood protested removal of the branch from its present location and pointed out that the present site could be enlarged by acquisition of adjacent property through condemnation proceedings.

The Burbank site contains 730 acres, the Beverly Hills tract comprises 300 acres and the Palos Verdes offer contains 1000 acres. A representative of Pomona suggested that the board take over 8000 acres of state land near Pomona acquired for the Pacific Colony site. A tract of 600 acres six miles south of Pasadena, was offered jointly by Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra.

FLAT REPUDIATION OF ALL WAR AS AN INSANE EXPENDITURE OF FORCE

Costa Mesa, February 9th, 1925.
Editor of the Register:

Since you have published several articles condemning my letter to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in regard to the Star Spangled Banner, perhaps you will be willing to publish a letter from me elucidating my stand.

I am not the first American to attack the Star Spangled Banner as a ferocious and repellent war song. Anna Shaw, the great woman suffragist, made public pronouncement against it 20 years ago. But that was before the war department foisted it upon the country as the official national anthem. I received word today from Seattle that there is a movement on foot in Washington to bar it from the schools of that state. The march of peace is in progress.

Although the press is practically unanimous in denouncing my attitude, I meet with a great deal of sympathy in private conversation and private correspondence. Many people are opposed to the song, who do not dare say so out loud, because of the fearful espionage which has been placed upon the people since the World War. Having passed through this war under surveillance of federal authorities for being an absolute Tolstoyan Pacifist, I do not fear the judgment of my contemporaries on matters of conscience, and have no hesitations in expressing my unpopular opinion.

As to my not belonging in America, as several critics have said, I seem to be too deeply rooted here to be pried out. My earliest American ancestor came to the Plymouth colony on the second trip of the Mayflower. It is rumored that one of my forebears—a renegade Puritan, perhaps—betook himself to the backwoods of Massachusetts and married a real American—a red Indian—but unfortunately I have never been able to verify this story. However, it is down in books that three of my forefathers fought in the American Revolution; that one of my grandfathers was in the War of 1812 and the other one in the Civil War.

In case deportation should be recommended for me, I will say that it would not take much gasoline, for I was born about 20 miles from where I am now living. That was 45 years ago. California has changed much in the intervening years, and so has the rest of America. I can remember when free speech was considered a cardinal principle of the nation.

I still demand the right of free speech, and make bold to take it. The resolutions in last night's Register state that America in all its wars has fought on the side of right, liberty, justice and humanity. This is not true. I bring great men to witness. Thomas Jefferson disapproved of the War of 1812. Abraham Lincoln condemned the Mexican War. David Starr Jordan denounced America's policies in the Spanish War. I remember, as a girl, hearing criticism of America during the Spanish War. What has become of the moral courage of men that none now dares confess the sins of America?

All this may be irrelevant or it may be in part explanatory of my "preposterous doctrines," which in reality are quite simple and natural. I have repudiated all war, past, present and future, because I believe in the ancient commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." I have lived through two wars and have seen no good come out of them. War is an insane expenditure of force to the end of human annihilation—nothing more.

"The world is my country; to do good is my religion." My compatriots are the people of all the world, without regard to race, creed or color.

Pleasant Courtesies Shown House-Guest From Honduras

To introduce a delightful guest from Honduras to a group of her friends, Mrs. F. P. Nickey yesterday afternoon presented a bridge tea of unusually attractive appointments at her home, 519 Bush street. The incentive for the pleasant affair was Mrs. Fred Cecil Watson who with her husband, Dr. Watson has been enjoying a vacation visit of several weeks in "The States."

After a short interval of friendly chat, Mrs. Nickey introduced bridge for which three tables were arranged with scoring pads and other clever appointments. Winning contestants were announced at the tea hour later, when first prize of a set of embroidered tea napkins fell to the lot of Mrs. A. N. Zerman.

All of the gifts were of needle-work and a lavender bridge tea cloth upon which bloomed gay little bushes laden with card symbol posies, was the attractive guest prize presented Mrs. Watson. A pretty yellow card-table cover embroidered in black was the pleasing consolation offered Mrs. J. Russell Bruff, scoring low.

The gifts were awarded as the guests were seated around one long table in the dining room where they had been directed following the bridge games. Mrs. Nickey gave a spring-like effect to the table by the use of a great bowl of acacia blossoms on a silver framed mirror. Candy place cards and quaint yellow dolls fashioned from candles were the unique favors. Shades were drawn and the scene was illuminated by the soft glow from yellow candles in yellow crystal holders. Lady-fingers with a delectable prune cake, ice cream with chocolate sauce, hot coffee, kellow and green mint sticks and salted nuts in yellow baskets offered refreshments to the guests.

In addition to the friendly chat and the card games, was the charm of music as an entertaining feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Wigdal who had so pleased Ebell members by her contributions to the recent Monday program, gave a group of piano numbers, selecting three motifs from Homer Grunn's "Desert Cycle." She gave "The Mesa," "The Cholla Cactus" and "Sunrise," each played with a remarkable depth of expression and musical understanding.

Enjoying Mrs. Nickey's hospitality and the opportunity to meet her interesting guest, were Mrs. Edward B. Van Meter, Mrs. Charles D. Brown, Mrs. A. N. Zerman, Mrs. Eleanor Young Elliott, Mrs. E. B. Trago, Mrs. Jack Olivari, Mrs. R. J. Wigdal, Mrs. B. M. Cook, Mrs. J. Russell Bruff, Mrs. Robert Steinberger and Mrs. Charles Mitchell.

All were deeply interested in the charming honor guest whose accounts of life in Puerto Cortez, Honduras, where Dr. Watson is chief surgeon and head of a large hospital maintained by one of the leading fruit companies of the south, proved intensely thrilling to less-traveled folk. It was regretted that her stay in Santa Ana would be so short, but Dr. Watson has been recalled to Puerto Cortez by an accident happening to his chief assistant whom he left in charge at the hospital. He and Mrs. Watson are leaving tonight although it is hoped that they will soon return, if not to make California their home, at least to make a more extended visit.

W. C. T. U.

The Tustin home of Mrs. Philip Ebell will be the scene of a meeting of the W. C. T. U. of that community tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Child Welfare will be the theme of the afternoon's study and program and all young mothers are extended a pressing invitation to be present.

Guests From Canada Are Complimented At Dinner Party

The attractive home of the J. W. McCormacs on Church street, was the scene of a delightful function last night when Mr. and Mrs. McCormac asked a group of friends in to dine and meet their house-guests, Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Halstead of Toronto, Canada, brother and sister-in-law of the hostess.

The valentine motif was employed in floral decorations achieved by the lavish use of carnations, and in the attractive appointments of the table where guests were assigned their places by means of gay little valentines. Red carnations and freesias arranged in a crystal bowl, waited their fragrance and beauty from the center of the table. A delectable dinner was served in five courses and covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. McCormac, the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Halstead, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, the Rev. and Mrs. Will A. Betts, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. Theo A. Winbiger and Mrs. William Halstead.

In the after-dinner interval as the guests gathered in friendly groups in the drawing room, Mrs. McCormac introduced several entertaining contests in which Mr. and Mrs. Wiesseman proved extremely proficient, carrying off winning honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Halstead are enjoying their winter visit in the Southland where Mrs. Halstead will remain for an extended visit with her parents in San Francisco, after Mr. Halstead takes his departure next Saturday.

Star Chapter Gives Colonial Party

Costumed in the flowing draperies and snowy wigs of the days of Washington, officers of the Star Chapter, O. E. S., greeted members and guests Monday evening at Masonic temple, at a delightful Colonial party following the usual chapter session.

Friends from all chapters of the district responded to the invitation of the matron, Mrs. Ada C. Walters and the patron, William C. Dean, and entering into the spirit of the affair, helped to make it a shining success.

The delightful program opened with a dance by little Miss Carrie Kimball. Other entertaining features were a violin and clarinet duet by Jack Langley and Lyle Roberts; musical reading, Mrs. A. N. Crain; vocal solo, Miss Edith Cornell; clarinet solo, Lyle Roberts; violin duet, Elisen and Marian Young, accompanied by Miss Frances Vannest; reading, Stanley Reed; vocal solo, Lloyd Roach; dance, Lillian Hurwitz and Mildred Peale; vocal solo, Freda Moesser Barger; vocal solo, W. R. Sylvester.

Guests were then asked to the banquet room where they all enjoyed cake covered with whipped cream and hot coffee as a preliminary to a pleasant interval of dancing to music furnished by Ethel Troxell Thompson and her orchestra. Mrs. Thompson was also accompanist for most of the solo work given on the program in the chapter room.

District Club-Women Will Assemble For Board Meeting

Of importance to all club-women will be the meeting of the southern district executive board, scheduled to be held at Santa Ana Ebell club house tomorrow, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Kenneth Oliver of Brawley, district president, will arrive to conduct the meeting which will offer many items of business interest as well as an excellent program. Clubwomen who wish to attend the luncheon, may make reservations yet this evening by telephoning Mrs. John Clarkson, local chairman of arrangements.

The luncheon speaker will be James H. Shaw, executive secretary of the Society of the Golden Scroll, the Mission Play foundation, and representative of John R. McGroarty, author and founder of the Mission play.

"Citizenship in the Home and in the Government" will be the theme of the afternoon program to which Ebell club members are extended a friendly invitation. The theme will be treated exhaustively, citizenship in the home to be discussed under two heads, in regard to social life and again on obedience to law in the home as training for a wider obedience in civic life.

"Work" as a theme will be discussed in its relations to part-time education in California and also to the migratory worker. Under the head of "Leisure," the discussion will deal with "Amusements and recreation as training for citizenship." Citizenship at Large" will be designed to answer the question "How can organized women be more effective in government?"

The speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. Frank H. Pritchard of Colton with short talks to be given by Mrs. Clark Leslie, president of the Santa Ana Woman's club; Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton Ebell club; Mrs. E. Kate Ray of Anaheim Ebell club; Mrs. Clyde Watson of Orange Women's club; Mrs. Edna Downs, Huntington Beach Woman's club; Mrs. J. Harold Barnum of San Bernardino and Mrs. P. D. Jacobs of El Centro.

Missionary Society

The annual day of prayer will be observed by the Missionary society of the First Christian church, February 27, when members and friends will assemble at the church at 2 o'clock for appropriate services.

Farewell Dinner For Travelers Through Old Mexico

Just preceding the departure of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker for an interesting six weeks to be spent in Mexico, they were complimented by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Miller of 205½ North Main street, who arranged a delightful little farewell dinner in their honor.

Massed daffodils offered a cheery suggestion of spring in the pleasant home and in the dining-room were combined with Roman hyacinths and ornamental grasses in a graceful basket which centered the table.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Miller, the hosts and their honored guests, the Bakers, and for Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Davis.

The evening was one of lively chat mingled with the friendly wishes of the guests for a delightful trip for Mr. and Mrs. Baker whose plans embrace a stay at the ranch in Sinaloa where they have large interests. They started on their interesting trip yesterday.

Men's Club Holds Annual Ladies' Night

With covers laid for approximately 200 members and guests, the Men's club of the First Baptist church last night presented the annual dinner to the ladies in the banquet rooms of the church where a bountiful and appetizing menu was served by Mrs. E. F. Bove and her efficient committee.

Valentine decorations prevailed and the seasonal motif was further emphasized when W. C. Childers, club president, in a friendly speech of appreciation, presented Mrs. Bertha S. Harrison, president of the Women's society, with a graceful cluster of roses.

Throughout the dinner hour, the Sunday school orchestra entertained with a succession of musical selections. At the close of the dinner, Kemper Taylor, chairman of the program committee, introduced the entertainer of the evening, Jerome Shaeffer of Long Beach, who for an hour and half kept the audience in an uproar of mirth by his impersonations, monologues, stories and songs.

So delighted were the club members and their guests with Mr. Shaeffer, that they are bringing him on a return date for the evening services of the church, Sunday night, February 22, when he will present the whole evening's program, by giving a "Sermon in Poem and Song."

Frances E. Willard's Memory Honored at W. C. T. U. Service

Offering a tribute to the memory of Frances E. Willard, the local W. C. T. U. held a most interesting meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. T. A. Winbiger, 207 East Ninth street where the annual Frances Willard Memorial day was observed.

Mrs. Winbiger was in charge of the program which opened with devotionals led by Mrs. Will A. Betts followed by the Crusade hymn with Mrs. W. B. Snow at the piano. The new organization of "Mothers and Daughters of the Crusade" which is a part of the W. C. T. U. was described by Mrs. Winbiger, state president of the organization who ended her talk with a solo, "Faith of Our Fathers" written by Mrs. Stella B. Irvine.

Miss Alva Cook from the Frances Willard Junior high school, gave a very interesting history of the life of Frances Willard. This was taken from the book, "The Life of Frances Willard" recently presented to the school by Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, a distant relative of the distinguished woman. Mrs. J. N. Osborn read a little sketch, "Something Nice of You," a quartet composed of Mrs. Larue Mayer, Cecil Fross Willets, W. A. Taylor and James Hughes, sang "Crossing the Bar," a favorite song of Frances Willard; they were accompanied by Mrs. Snow. Mrs. Winbiger asked for several to speak on "What Miss Willard Has Meant to Me," the following responded, Mrs. M. M. Tidball, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark and Mrs. Estelle Harper, county president.

Mrs. Mayer sweetly sang "Thy Ragged Cross" after which Mrs. Elizabeth Mills spoke of the relationship with Frances Willard and Mrs. Willard gave a beautiful solo, "My Task," with Mrs. Snow at the piano.

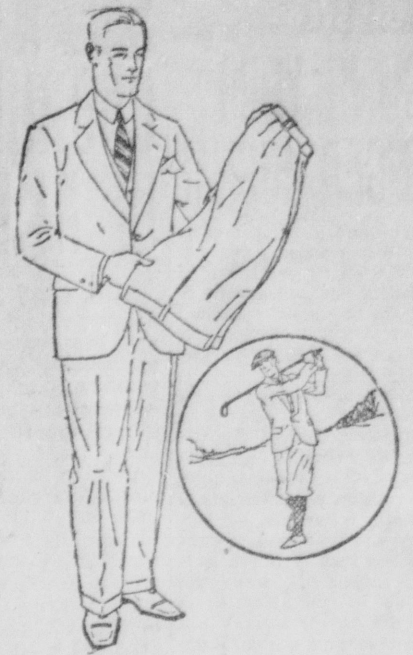

The program was followed by a pleasant social hour during which the hostess served tea and wafers with Mrs. John Estes Jr. and Mrs. H. B. Sharpless presiding at the tea tables.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cod liver oil, which is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medicinal discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, cod liver oil is recommended by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to cod liver oil, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the cod liver oil goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to pneumonia.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after illness or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SEE NEED FOR COORDINATION OF ALL TAXES

State taxes on inheritances and estates at present are numerous and burdensome and form a very appreciable portion of the state revenue of the advisory committee of the finance department of the United States Chamber of Commerce, appointed to investigate and make recommendations for a referendum on the question of taxation on the question of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at its meeting next week, it was expected today by A. L. Olinger, secretary.

In summing up objections to federal inheritance or estate taxes, the committee says that "death taxes" have by an unbroken series of precedents been recognized as exclusively a field for state taxation, except in time of war emergency.

"Confuse Situation"

"Death taxes levied by the federal government assure multiple taxation of estates and still further confuse a situation which already is chaotic, due to the conflict of state laws," the committee report says. "It has been deemed necessary or advisable for the federal government to resort to peculiar obnoxious means in order to prevent evasion of the national inheritance tax. The income from death taxes levied by the United States government has never formed more than an insignificant portion of the total ordinary revenues of that government, and income from estate taxes is no longer necessary in order to balance the national budget."

Continuing, the committee declared: "The unsatisfactory tax conditions in this country have long been a matter of comment and criticism, but no effective remedies have been applied. It is obvious that no improvement of a permanent nature can be accomplished until there is some co-ordinating influence which would offer to each taxing unit some assurance that, if it foregoes certain possible revenues for the sake of the public good, some other taxing unit will not immediately levy the same tax, thus frustrating the policy of the first."

The committee points out the changes that have taken place in the methods by which the national and state governments collect their revenues. It calls attention to the fact that while the federal government originally depended on indirect levies for its revenue, at present obtains nearly one-half of its total ordinary revenue from direct taxes.

At the same time, the states, which once relied almost exclusively on direct property taxes, are turning more and more to indirect taxation, according to the committee.

Multiple Taxation

"All these changes in state taxation," says the committee, "have grown up without any systematization or coordination and double or multiple taxation has become almost the rule rather than the exception. Corporations usually both have property and transact business in more than one state and they are thus subject to the jurisdiction of several taxing units. A resident of one state may die owning property situated in another and possibly have possession of obligations of corporations which are incorporated in other states and owning property in several states. The result is that the estate may be taxed in all these numerous jurisdictions. Each state, within certain broad constitutional limits, is free to select its own basis for determining the tax due. Some states, in order to collect the maximum revenue are using more than one basis to determine tax levies. There exists, moreover, the possibility that if one state, for reasons of public policy, refrain from taxing, or taxes but lightly, that some other state will levy a tax on the same property or property right."

"In addition, there is now added in several states another element of confusion, that of the United States government levying taxes on the same source taxed by the states. It is conceivable that should this condition continue without check, there may develop the same competition between the national government and the various states in regard to certain types of taxes."

Farm Bureau Notes

W. E. Newton, poultry specialist with the University of California, who conducted three meetings here during the week for county poultrymen, will conduct meetings in Imperial county this week. He will remain in the county for the entire week.

Dr. Lela Beebe, Sacramento, of the bureau of child hygiene, was the principal speaker at the Westminister farm center meeting. Because of the disruption of the light service, the business of the center was postponed.

DISPATCHERS GIVEN RAISE CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Dispatchers of the Missouri Pacific railroad are to receive wage increases of around $15 per month, according to a decision handed down by the railroad labor board.

The Boulder Dam Project

(A series of articles, one to appear each week, on the Boulder Dam project, will be published in The Register. William J. Carr, writer of this series of articles on the Boulder Canyon Project was a member of the Boulder Dam association, an organization consisting of some two hundred cities, counties, chambers of commerce, farm bureaus, Legion posts and civic organizations, associated together to forward the proposals and closely followed its development for several years, and is accurately informed in respect to its various aspects.—Editor Register.)

BY WILLIAM J. CARR

The story of the inception of the Boulder Canyon project and of how it gradually took form is at once interesting and important. Familiarity with its historical background is most helpful to a proper estimation of statements, and traceable and appearing, and traceable sometimes to ignorance and sometimes to less excusable motives, to the effect that this man or of that interest or is a land speculation scheme, and the like.

As early as January 12, 1907, President Roosevelt communicated with Congress respecting Imperial Valley problems, and in his message said:

"The Reclamation Service should be authorized to take steps at once for the construction of an irrigation project, under the terms of the reclamation act, for the lands in the Imperial Valley and in the lower Colorado River valley."

"The plan in general to enter upon a broad, comprehensive scheme of land and water irrigation, and upon the Colorado River with needed storage at the headwaters, so that none of the water of this great river which can be put to beneficial use will be allowed to go to waste. The Imperial Valley will never have a safe and adequate supply of water until the main canal extends from the Laguna Dam."

On July 22, 1919, this Board made its report, recommending the construction of an all-American canal, and estimated that the project would cost thirty and thirty-one million dollars.

Prior to the announcement of the report, but after a preliminary or tentative report had been made by the Board, there was introduced in Congress by Mr. Kettner, representing the 11th Congressional District of California, a bill authorizing the construction of an all-American canal.

Reporting on the proposal embodied in this bill, the Secretary of the Interior, Franklin K. Lane, said that the proposal had "had the consideration of the Department for a number of years and the gravity of the situation had been long recognized as one which must necessarily be met as soon as practicable." Continuing, he pointed out that the bill presented "a satisfactory and feasible method of working out the problem," and urged favorable action thereon. Subsequently and at the second session of the 66th Congress, Mr. Kettner introduced a second all-American canal bill which in addition to authorizing an all-American canal, contained certain provisions for storage.

Kinkaid Act.

Hearings were had on this proposed all-American canal legislation. Congress, however, was not satisfied with the data available in respect to storage, and hence passed the so-called Kinkaid Act of May 18, 1920, by which the Secretary of the Interior was directed to make an examination into the problems of the lower Colorado River and to report the result thereof to Congress with his recommendations. An appropriation was made for carrying on the necessary investigations. In addition, advancements were made by interested localities, the Imperial Irrigation District contributing $100,000, Palo Verde Valley $50,000, Coachella Valley Water District $6,000, Pasadena $5,000 and Los Angeles $5,000. Extensive investigations were made, a preliminary report announced, and hearings had. On February 28, 1922, the Secretary of the Interior, as required by the Kinkaid Act, made and filed his final report and recommendations with Congress. The recommendations were that the Boulder Canyon project in its present form be authorized.

Following this report, House Bill No. 11,441 was introduced in the 67th Congress by Phil D. Swing, representing the 11th District, and a companion bill was introduced in the Senate by Hiram W. Johnson, a senior Senator from California. The bill thus presented in the two Houses merely gave legislative expression to the recommendations of the Interior Department.

Again Introduced.

In the 68th Congress, this same measure was introduced by Congressman Swing and by Senator Johnson and is known sometimes as the Swing-Johnson bill and sometimes as the Johnson-Swing bill.

Following the report of the Interior Department in February, 1922 additional investigations were made by the Reclamation Service. These resulted in the Weymouth report of March, 1924, which fully confirmed the earlier report.

Thus it is seen the Boulder Canyon project had its beginning at least as far back as January 12, 1907. It has taken shape gradually as the result of government studies and investigations, the extent of which was tersely stated by Dr. Work, Secretary of the Interior, in reporting on the Swing-Johnson bill.

"The Colorado River," he said, "has been under observation, survey, and study, and the subject of reports to Congress since the close of the Civil War. More than $350,000 have been expended by the Bureau of Reclamation since the Kinkaid Act of May 18, 1920. More than $2,000,000 have been expended by other agencies of the Government."

Roosevelt and Lane, Mead and Davis, Weymouth and many other earnest and able engineers in the government service—each has contributed to the final form of the Boulder Canyon project. No selfish interest has entered in. Men of vision, ability, integrity, have given it shape.

School Pupils Select Quail As Kansas Bird

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 11.—Kansas has renounced the humble barnyard pullet for the fickle quail.

Incomplete returns from the popular contest to select the official state bird today shows the quail far ahead of the field. School children of the state cast 300,000 votes in the selection and the pullet's name wasn't even on the ballot, according to Miss Madeline Aaron, in charge of the count of votes here.

Backers of the barnyard queen contend their candidate has been discriminated against. Candidates for the job of state bird had to be "common all over Kansas. Likeable and popular, economically valuable, a good singer, beautiful in color and form."

Original pullet supporters assert their standard bearer, while not graced with an operatic voice, nevertheless sang a cheering song for her owner when she performed her daily task of egg laying.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Dr. Samuel B. Molin, wealthy retired dentist of Detroit, and his two sons, Fred and Harry, were arrested here today on fugitive warrants charging the trio with complicity in huge fraud plots.

The warrants charged specifically that the trio conspired to defraud a casualty company in connection with a fake gem robbery.

Hint At Gem Robbery

The men were also ordered held for investigation in connection with a recent $200,000 diamond robbery in Detroit, and for alleged irregularities in the writing of insurance policies.

The arrests were instigated by Robert M. Toms, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, Michigan, who is here and will seek to have the men extradited.

The warrants, issued in Detroit, charged Molin and his sons had coerced R. L. Crinnian, former Detroit, into signing an affidavit concerning a fake gem burglary under threat of prosecution on a had check charge. The alleged conspiracy then sought to collect $50,000 from an eastern casualty company, it was charged.

Claim "Gigantic Conspiracy"

Local officers were to question the trio today in connection with what they term a "gigantic conspiracy" in Southern California to defraud a fraternal order of thousands of dollars in fictitious life insurance policies.

A search was also started here for $200,000 in diamonds reported stolen in a Detroit robbery.

School and College News Of Santa Ana

Builds Walnut Dresser

As an exhibition of the type of work accomplished in the second year woodshop class of the Santa Ana high school, a dresser constructed by Naylin Hurd from walnut wood is on display in the windows of the Santa Ana Hardware store.

"It is an exceptionally good piece of work," declared the shops instructor, Mr. Chas. Tibbets. "The projects from cutting the wood to applying the last finishes was done entirely by initiative."

Mr. Tibbets estimated that the dresser would be valued at $120 in actual purchase.

To Invite Sophomore Girls

New sophomore girls who entered the Santa Ana high school at the mid-term graduation are to be the special guests of the Athena girls' club in an evening entertainment at the high school Friday, February 27, according to Miss Myrtle Meacham, recently elected president.

A novel feature of the program is the book guessing contest. Members of the club by actions and grouping are to illustrate striking parts of books for the girls to guess the book title. Other numbers are planned for the program.

Student "Radio" to Folks

Radio has gained the reputation of linking up the world and George Sackman, student at the Santa Ana high school, knows that it can link up families.

While Mr. and Mrs. J. William Sackman have been visiting in Phoenix, Arizona during the past week, they have been in constant touch with their son, George, who is a licensed amateur operator. He says he has been in communication with Phoenix every night.

His station call letters are 6LA and the station active in Arizona through which he talks with his mother and father goes by the call of 6CSO.

LESS FREEDOM FOR CHILDREN IS ADVOCATED

Advocating a stricter supervision of the daily life of young people, more parental oversight and less freedom, Judge F. C. Drumm gave one of the most interesting talks of the winter before members of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church, meeting last night in the church basement for their February supper.

Judge Drumm voiced an abiding faith in the underlying fineness of the present generation, asserting his belief that the morals and principles of present-day youth were as fine and high as ever, but that the freedom following the introduction of automobiles into an ordinary scheme of daily living, carried in its train a freedom hitherto undreamed of.

In his work as judge of the juvenile court of the county, Judge Drumm is peculiarly well qualified to see the progress of such freedom and the results. His talk was marked by a sympathetic understanding of youth's "problems," and he was firm in placing the blame for countless misdemeanors on the shoulders of the parents rather than on the children themselves.

He ended his splendid talk with a plea to the organization to aid—not in handling conditions already existing, but in the work of prevention—in reaching young people, especially boys, before they become delinquents or wards of the probation officer of juvenile court.

Judge Drumm was the chief attraction on a program arranged by J. R. Goodwin and was introduced by Harry Lewis. The program followed an appetizing dinner served by members of the Aid society directed by their president, Mrs. Clyde Bach. W. S. Sudaby, president of the Brotherhood, led the business meeting.

Community singing was an enjoyable feature and was led by Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano. Mrs. Sammis also gave a number of delightful solos at intervals, including "My Birthday," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," and other appreciated songs. Eleanor Young Elliott gave readings, responding to the request that they be humorous.

El Toro Items

EL TORO, Feb. 10.—Billie Osterman was a delighted little boy Saturday when he was host to a group of friends, who enjoyed celebrating his fifth birthday anniversary. The El Toro hall proved itself to be an ideal place to play, when a cool wind is blowing. Valentine colors were used in decorating. A Valentine basket was passed, with each little guest receiving a valentine. Many gifts were received by the small honoree, and the opening of the various packages pleased the children and grown-ups. After being seated at two long tables, those present were served Valentine ice cream, wafers and cake. Billie's guest list included Joseph Patterson, Beulah Jean Osborn, Clayton Tillotson Jr., Barbara Tillotson, Mary Alice Tillotson, Howard Adkinson, Bruce Adkinson, Marjory Adkinson, Elizabeth Smith and Bobbie English of Santa Ana, Louise Browning, Drennon Ahern, Elmer Osterman and John Osterman Jr. of Tustin, Shirley Wade of Irvine, Harold Trapp of Capistrano, and Ruth Cook, Barbara Cook, Billie Drews, Harry Trapp, Grace Trapp, Madeline Coulter, Arnetta Stowe, Myrtle Stowe, Mary Pierce, Raymond Prothero Jr., Ethel May Hendricks, Ida Swartz, Grace Swartz, Neida Arnold, Bobbie Arnold, Chester Tall, Clara Tall, Harold Stevens, Helen Bennett, Beverly Bennett, Evelyn Bennett, Sadie Marie Osterman and Joseph and Jimmie Osterman, small brothers of Billie.

The evening meeting of the El Toro P.T. A. was well attended. R. R. Miller, the speaker for the evening, made friends with his listeners in his talk to the parents. Mr. Miller's work as probation officer fits him for just such heart to heart talks. Some of the accomplishments of the organization, during its 28 years of growth, were brought to mind, when a huge birthday cake with the correct number of candles was placed on the table and as these purposes and standards were read, the candles were lit. Mrs. M. B. Stevens was given much credit as the baker of the cake. Refreshments were served after the program, and a social hour enjoyed.

When the Woman's Club met with Mrs. Levi Gockley recently, plans were made for a bazaar to be held later in the year. An embroidered bedspread, pillow slips, dresser scarfs, and towels of all descriptions will be bought by the club and finished by the members. A special meeting will be held Wednesday, February 11, at the home of Mrs. R. B. Waterman, in order to make necessary changes in the by-laws.

The L. F. Moulton home is in course of remodeling and redecorating. H. A. Froehlich is doing the carpenter work.

El Toro players of the farm center will give the program at Garden Grove center, Wednesday evening, February 11.

Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 11.—Founders day was celebrated at the meeting of the grammar school P.T. A., held in the school Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. Edmond Snow, district president, was present and spoke on the history and growth of the organization, adding interesting incidents of the work and its accomplishments. Mrs. E. F. Zimmerman, president of the local P.T. A., read a message from national headquarters. Reports from different committees were given. Mrs. W. B. Harper and Mrs. C. P. Morris gave short talks on the home, which will be continued at each meeting under the direction of Mrs. Morris.

An immense beautiful birthday cake was brought in and each of the 28 candles was lit by a member who read a paragraph on the aims and standards of the association. The meeting then adjourned to the dining room, where the cake was served with tea. The pictures were awarded to the Misses Crutchfield and Miss Berryhill.

Among recent social events was that of Thursday evening, when J. M. Pearson entertained members at a supper at his home. The regular weekly rehearsal was held at the church and, adjourning early, all went to Mr. Pearson's home where "Pit" caused much merriment during the evening. Later refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served. Enjoying the hospitality of the home were Mr. and Mrs. Irvine German, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe, Mrs. A. Young, Miss Marguerite Young, Miss Ethel Williamson, Mrs. Ray Christiansen, Mrs. Albert Schneider, C. E. Prior, Mrs. J. G. Munz, A. G. Smith, M. L. Bennett and W. M. Adland.

Next month the choir is planning a good luck supper for members and their wives and husbands. Of much interest to music lovers of the community is the announcement of a concert to be given within the next few weeks by the choir. Program will consist of chorus numbers as well as solos, quartets and other features. On Easter Sunday, the choir will present "Life Everlasting."

A jolly evening was enjoyed by the Philathea class of the Baptist church when they met recently for their regular monthly meeting and social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brinton Hale. The guests all came dressed to represent an advertisement. Contests and games made the evening a lively one and at a late hour refreshments of chicken sandwiches, chocolate and wafers were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. P. M. German, Miss Margaret Arrowsmith, Mrs. Myrtle Cockerham, Mrs. Laura Arrowsmith, Mrs. Adeline Welchel, Mrs. Bertha Collins, Mrs. Betty McDonald, Mrs. Esther Glibreath, Mrs. Dorothy Gerley, Miss Maud Arnhalt, Mrs. E. L. Arrowsmith, Mrs. J. G. Allen, Mrs. O. G. Self, Mrs. C. P. Trial of O'Campo Is Postponed at Request of State

Trial of Frank O'Campo, of Santa Ana, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, was today postponed by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm to March 17. Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley informed the court that the prosecution was not ready to proceed with the case.

O'Campo is accused of attacking G. W. Williamson, local contractor, with a club.

Capital, Labor Truce Sought

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Luis Morenos, minister of labor, has called a joint conference of capital and labor to be held in March. He hopes to stake a working truce between capital and labor to last five years, during which the reconstruction of Mexico may continue uninterrupted.

Sydney Reaches 1,000,000 Mark

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 11.—The population of Sydney exceeded 1,000,000 at the end of 1924, according to government figures just made public. The city is now third in size in the southern hemisphere, being next to Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro. It is certain to outstrip Glasgow this year and it will then be fourth in the British empire, next to London, Bombay, and Calcutta.

MADRID'S POPULATION GROWS
MADRID, Feb. 11.—Madrid's population is now 950,000 inhabitants and will be 1,200,000 after the proposed extension of city limits is effected, the census bureau announced. In 1920 its population was 750,000.

CAN YOU BEAT THIS?
MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 11.—This city has a temperamental laundress. She has a car. During the cold winter months she refuses to wash for anyone who cannot provide a heated garage for the car. She says she can't afford to have the radiator freeze while she is washing clothes.

THAT PERFECT COMPLEXION

"No well-appointed boudoir is complete without one," declares Miss Claire Adams, movie actress, as she uses her cosmetic doll, latest fad for the enhancement of feminine art. "A bit of material from each dress you purchase makes a neckline sufficient for the doll so that different make-up effects can be practiced at leisure until the best are ascertained."

Is Sadder, Wiser After Visit to Flowery Kingdom

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Albert Dodge, San Francisco engineer, is convinced that the Chinese are as inscrutable as their ways are peculiar.

Dodge was summoned to China to build roads for which $15,000,000 had been raised by the provincial governors. But when he got there the exchequer was bare.

"We are very sorry, but the $15,000,000 is gone. We needed it for other purposes," Dodge was blandly informed.

Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 11.—A full house greeted the dramatic class of the Garden Grove high school on its recent presentation of "The Charm School." This comedy in three acts was staged under the direction of Miss Amy Redd of the high school faculty. Helen Knox was the leading lady, who captivated the audience with her cunning ways. Her opposite was played by Dolph Kelsey, who portrayed the part of the handsome young salesman endeavoring to educate the young ladies of a private school to be charming.

Others in the cast were Norma Larson and Louis Head, Inis Russell, the secretary; Frances Bragg, a student; John Allen Fitz, an expert accountant; Harry Munz, a law student; Clyde Collins and Kenneth Harris as twins; Katherine Kirven, Lucile Schakleford, J. Pewel Crowley and Jeanette Stewart.

Ernest Kelsey returned to Los Angeles Sunday to resume his work after an absence of ten weeks. It will be remembered that Mr. Kelsey had the misfortune to break his leg, but is now able to be about without crutches.

The date for "The Little Clod Hopper," a three-act comedy to be presented by the Woman's Civic club, has been set for Friday evening, March 6. The cast is under direction of Mrs. W. M. Kelsey.

W. M. Adland spent the week-end in Los Angeles. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Adland and her aunt, Miss Elvira Edwards. Miss Edwards will visit at the Adland home for a few weeks.

Mrs. E. L. Weber and her guest, Mrs. Kate Weber, visited in Long Beach Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DeVaul of Santa Ana visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ulrich of Paicines were Sunday afternoon callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Wasson.

Mrs. Kate Weber, who has been visiting with her niece, Mrs. E. L. Weber, left Monday for Los Angeles, for a visit with friends.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sumner were Mrs. C. Noakes and daughter, Mrs. Tom Clegg, and George and Dan Noakes of Inglewood.

Mrs. B. F. Wasson returned to her home in Los Angeles Saturday after visiting her son, C. Z. Wasson, and family.

Mrs. Ralph French of Redlands was a Sunday guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stillens.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ernst of Hollywood were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ernst.

Vivian Sanders of Victorville is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. R. Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Enos have moved to Garden Grove from Santa Ana. They are located on West Ocean avenue, having traded their Santa Ana property to F. M. Reafnyder for their present location.

CAT CAUSED DEATH

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A message on the screen of a movie show here asked a man to return home a tonce. When he arrived there, he found his wife suffering from a concussion of the brain. She was taken to a hospital and died two days later. The inquest revealed she had tripped over a cat and fell heavily on the floor.

270 Feet High

The largest rock-filled dam in the world, which shortly will be completed on the Dix River, near High Bridge, Ky., is the composition of electrical engineers, hydraulic engineers, explosive engineers and railroad engineers, aided and abetted by financiers, statisticians and, possibly, historians.

Historians saved the men who made the dam's construction possible the fact that Daniel Boone, in the closing days of the Revolutionary War, reported the river as one affording many excellent mill seats."

On one of these mill seats has been erected a dam 270 feet high, 700 feet thick at its base, tapering to 24 feet at its summit, and a 920-foot crest joining cliff with cliff. A fall of 235 feet will be utilized.

By April, a hydro-electric plant developing over half again as much power as that of the Roosevelt Dam will be in operation, transmitting power to Louisville, to the Lexington district, to Southern and Southeastern Kentucky, to Virginia and to Indiana.

The cost of the development, including transmission lines, will be in excess of 7 million dollars—Boston Transcript.

STUDENTS DO NOT BELIEVE DREAMS EVER TELL FUTURE

Members of Psychology Class at Junior College Scoff at Theory

PRACTICAL ANALYSIS OF VISIONS IS GIVEN

Only One of 52 Pupils Is Believer In Truth of Psychic Warnings

By ALFRED AULT

That dreams foretell future events is "the bunk."

Such is the conclusion of students of the Santa Ana junior college psychology class in answer to a questionnaire handed out by E. M. Nealley, instructor.

The old beliefs held by mystified "grand-dads" that dreams possessed a supernatural quality are exposed as fallacies under the searching glare of present day psychology, according to Nealley.

Of the 52 answers, only one student definitely declared that he believed dreams had the power of giving predictions and forewarnings.

"It is proven by actual cases," he says.

Claim Coincidence

The other students rise up in arms at the suggestion. They declare that it is "merely a matter of coincidence" when occurrences follow the events of a dream.

"One dream in a thousand comes true, and it is heralded far and wide through the newspapers and by other means. The possibilities of dreams foretelling the future are exaggerated," they affirm.

In reality all dreams have a direct bearing on the happenings of the daily experience, it is attested by the questionnaire answers. "Impulsive impressions" on the mental machinery "leaves the spots of the brain still tingling in sleep, producing dreams," one student expressed it.

Two Never Dream

Among the class there were two students who said they never dream. Four others reported that they dreamed every night. The majority, reaching nearly two-thirds, said that their mental "sleep" was infrequent.

Most of the dreams of the students were of a grotesque nature, they said. While some were logical the majority were fantastic.

Nealley in explaining the reason for dreams stated that their "grotesque or fanciful elements are due to breaking up of the normal connecting tracts of the brain."

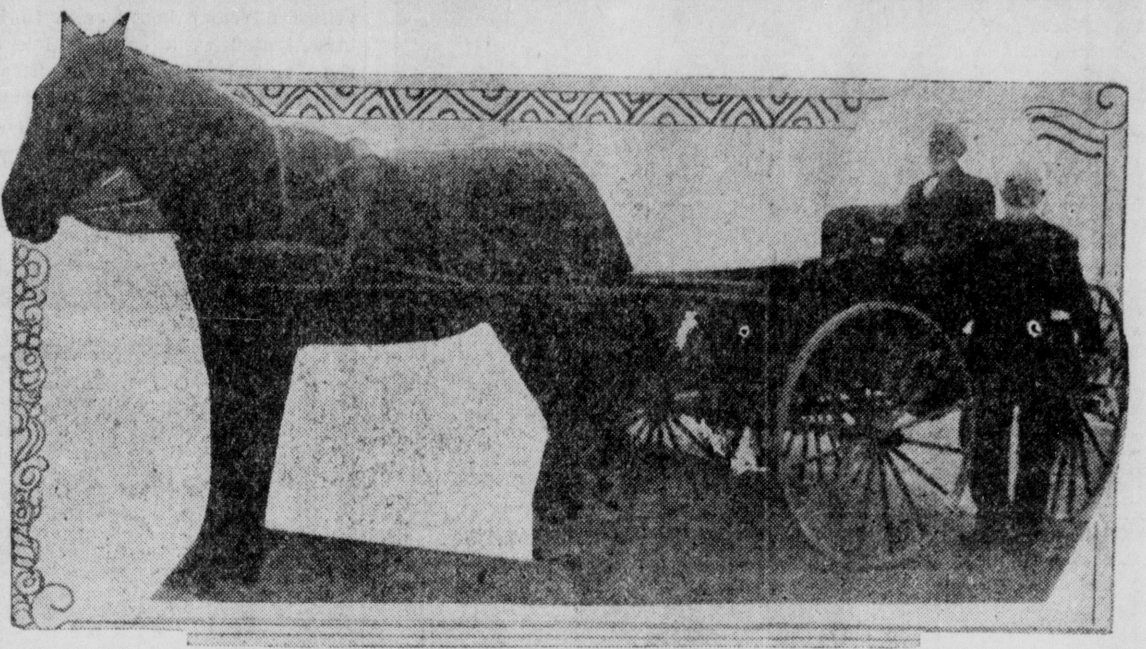

"Dreaming," Nealley said, "is like the drifting of a boat with the wind and tide—the man at the helm is off duty. They are just a medley of hodge-podge memory images following lines of familiar associations of experience that happen to open up as they go prowling around in the brain."

Some Are "Lovely"

These irrational dreams are denoted as "awful," "frightful," "lovely" and "horrid." The men limit themselves to such terms as "absurd" and "impossible."

Evidence that physical conditions sometimes affect the sleeper is

PHILOSOPHY INSTRUCTION CONTROVERSY AGAIN TAKEN UP BY S. A. SCHOOL BOARD

Another chapter was added yesterday afternoon to the Santa Ana junior college philosophy teaching controversy when at the city board of education meeting the subject came up in connection with an article that appeared in the last issue of the local Lions Club organ.

President Alexander Brownridge of the board took exception to the general trend of this article which he remarked, placed the blame on the school trustees.

Says Board Didn't Initiate Matter

He again called attention to the fact that the school board had not taken the initiative in these premises, and that the matter came before them as a result of a complaint filed with the state superintendent of public instruction.

Acting upon this complaint, Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, with office in Sacramento, under date of January 7, addressed the following communication to City Superintendent J. A. Cranston:

"I am enclosing herewith a list of questions alleged to have been given in one of the junior colleges of Southern California. The complainant in the matter lives in Santa Ana so I am assuming that questions may possibly have been given in your institution."

"It seems to me that some of the questions have no place in an institution supported by public taxation."

Asks Investigation

"Will you kindly look into the matter and let me know whether these questions were given in your junior college, and if so, I am sure you will caution the teacher to be more careful about introducing sectarian matters and controversial religious questions in his teachings."

Referring to the foregoing letter, President Brownridge explained that whatever action had been taken by the board, had been in direct compliance with the instructions given by the state superintendent of public instruction.

Attention was further invited to the following letter from Professor George P. Adams, head of the department of philosophy, University of California, to Dean B. M. Woods of that institution, bearing upon the controversy.

It reads:

"I have your letter enclosing correspondence with the Superintendent of the Santa Ana city schools. I have no knowledge at all about Professor Nealley, and I am at a loss to understand what is meant in saying that 'Professor Nealley was following directions from the University of California in giving his course.' There is certainly no course in the University in which students are asked to answer such questions as are contained in Professor Nealley's questionnaire."

"I should myself decidedly question the advisability or the usefulness of putting such questions to elementary and immature students. It is, of course, one main purpose of instruction in philosophy to increase the clarity and sincerity of one's beliefs and convictions in the important field of religion. This requires tact and sympathy as well as learning. The heated atmosphere of current theological controversies should be sedulously avoided."

"Unless I knew more about the use to which the questionnaire was put, I could hardly form any more definite opinion. But on the surface it seems out of place in an elementary course in philosophy. I should be afraid that discussions arising from such questions would overshadow serious attention to the major philosophical problems concerning the relation between science and religion, and would create a controversial attitude inimical to the dispassionate study of these difficult and important problems."

HIGHWAY JOBS IN COUNTY APPROVED

Completed highway jobs were before the board of supervisors late yesterday for acceptance, the final hearing on road improvement district 32 winning approval of that project, which includes the paving of Cedar street from Brea to the state highway. The board also accepted the work of widening a bridge on Grand avenue, near Buena Park.

Final hearing on road improvement district 24, which includes a mile of paving on Grand avenue at Buena Park is set for February 24. At that time it is expected that the supervisors will formally accept that street which will form the widest paved boulevard in the county. The new pavement measures 84 feet from curb to curb.

Santa Ana Girl Chief Beneficiary of Father's Will

The late Alexander McGilivray, of Santa Ana, who died January 14, left a $20,000 estate to his widow and three daughters, according to a petition to probate the will, as filed late yesterday by Mrs. Mae McGilivray in the superior court.

Half of the estate, $10,000, goes to the youngest daughter, Naomi, 18, who lives with her mother in this city. The sum of $5000 was bequeathed to the second daughter, Eva McGilivray, and $3000 was willed to the oldest daughter, Katherine Neville. Both live in Ventura. Natie Loucks, of Los Angeles, was willed $1. The estate consists chiefly of cash and securities, with real estate valued at $2000.

PUT OFF TRIAL FOR CHECK UP OF OIL FUNDS

Absence of Attorney For Pacific Corporation Delays Suit Here

Although there were 13 lawyers in court Tuesday ready to proceed with trial of the suit brought by A. J. Charlie and other investors in the Pacific corporation for a $250,000 accounting of company funds, the absence of one other attorney delayed the case until next Monday. The absent attorney was that of the Pacific corporation itself.

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams granted the motion of Attorney Robert Brennan, counsel for the oil company, to continue the trial because his presence is just now required in the trial of a case in San Francisco courts.

Added to Brennan's motion, which was presented through Attorney Hibbard, representing Louis Kleindienst, another defendant in the case, was another motion from Kleindienst, who asked delay on the ground that he is defendant in another suit in Arizona, involving part of the same funds concerned with the case here.

The extended array of legal talent in court today indicated the importance of the case, which is to determine ownership and disposition of at least $155,000 said to be in the hands of various defendants, and to find out what has become of another $100,000 which plaintiffs claim has been wrongfully appropriated.

Attorney James L. Allen and James L. Davis, of Santa Ana, represents Charlie and 20 other investors, who charge a quarter million dollar looting of the Pacific corporation well No. 16 at Signal Hill. Among the defendants are the Standard Oil company, which admits that it holds $11,200 of the funds and is ready to pay it to whom ever the court designates; the Brown Process company, which is said by the plaintiffs to have possession of $27,000; Louis Kleindienst, Los Angeles attorney and for a time manager of the well, who is alleged to have $117,000 in his possession; J. L. Richardson, San Diego attorney and also said to have managed the well for a time; B. R. Parrott and Herman Fisher, other managers, R. C. Steel, W. H. Biel, Benjamin S. Brubaker and J. P. Deweller, officers of the Pacific corporation; F. C. Krause, Fullerton banker, and others.

Charlie's group of unit holders claim that during several months in 1923 those in control of the well removed about $250,000 worth of oil and bi-products, without accounting to the unit holders.

B. E. Tarver, of Santa Ana, and B. E. Curry have been appointed receivers of the property pending settlement of the litigation.

AD CLUB WILL SPONSOR S. A. LETTER DRIVE

Preliminary steps for the staging of a "Santa Ana Letter Day" on Wednesday, March 4, were taken yesterday by the Santa Ana Advertising Club when a special committee met at St. Ann's Inn.

The object of the letter day is to have every man, woman, schoolboy and schoolgirl in Santa Ana write a letter to some friend in the East telling them all about Santa Ana and the advantages of this city.

Santa Ana Letter Day will dovetail in with the present letter campaign being waged in Los Angeles to combat unfavorable propaganda which eastern papers are printing about Southern California. Tentative plans made yesterday by the Ad Club committee call for the placing of 30 or more barrels at various points of vantage in the city four days prior to March 4. These barrels will be the depository for Santa Ana letters. The letters will be taken up each night by the Ad club and placed in the mail March 4.

With the co-operation of schools, churches and fraternal orders, it is expected that a large number of Santa Ana letters will be sent east. A slogan for the day will be selected at the second meeting of the letter day committee tomorrow.

The development of the novel plan, which should bring much favorable advertising to Santa Ana, is in the hands of the following committee: D. L. Coover, chairman; Bruce Switzer; N. E. Mayhill; W. H. Hanley; L. R. Crawford; Don Andrews; Wilbur Barr; Glenn Moore; and, R. L. Bish.

At yesterday's meeting, Chairman Coover, of the general committee, assigned special duties to committee members as follows: Wilbur Barr, procuring and distributing barrels; N. E. Mayhill, printing; Don Andrews and Bruce Switzer, merchants' window display; W. H. Hanley, publicity; L. R. Crawford, statistics; and Glenn Moore, information.

SPANISH STUDENTS PREPARE FOR TEST

Twelve competing students of Spanish at the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school are contemplating the final tests in the Spanish medal contest to be held Monday, February 23, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. in the high school music auditorium.

The meeting is open to the public according to Miss Ruth Frothingham, instructor in Spanish. In addition to the contest, she said that arrangements were being made for a musical program.

Examinations are to be by oral questions asked by native Spaniards. The three judges include Charles Carrillo, interpreter at the Orange county courthouse, his brother, R. Carrillo, who is here on a trip from South America, and Rev. Benito Garcia, pastor of the Mexican M. E. church in Santa Ana.

The winner is to be awarded a bronze medal engraved on one side with the picture of Columbus and endorsed on the opposite face with the signature of the American Association of Spanish Teachers. Through this organization the Spanish club at the high school has arranged the contest.

Last week the elimination steps were followed in a written test given the students by Miss Frothingham and Clifford D. Chamberlin of the Frances E. Willard junior high school who is aiding in the contest.

The twelve who remain for the finals are Miss Ina Bean, Miss Helen O'Brien, Miss Eleanor Turner, Miss June Goodwin, Miss Vera Dallas, Miss Justina Palmer, Miss Elizabeth Mateer, Ralph White, Geoffrey Buck, Theodore Cook, Everett G. Trostel and Emil Faust.

Forced to Sleep In Barn, Charge of Young Wife

Mrs. Clara E. Tripp, who was forced to live with her "in laws" when she married Chester Tripp in this city in 1920, today was free from objectionable marital bonds.

Her interlocutory decree of divorce was granted late yesterday after she had told her story to Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

Mrs. Tripp said that the couple made their home with Tripp's parents at San Jacinto and that she was forced to sleep in a barn, adjacent to the stock corral. Her husband subsequently began staying out nights, she said, and once stayed away for ten days without explaining his absence.

Attorney W. F. Menton represented Mrs. Tripp.

Gives Local Man Suspended Term

H. W. Schultz, a local man, who was found in Dr. Neil Dodge's office Monday night when the doctor returned from a picture show, was yesterday found guilty on a vagrancy charge, and given a six months suspended sentence, by Justice K. E. Morrison.

Morrison suspended the sentence on a promise made by Schultz that he would leave the city immediately.

SELECTION OF "MACBETH" FOR PRESENTATION HERE IS PRAISED BY TEACHER

Leiber with his company of Shakespearean actors will present "Macbeth" at the high school auditorium Friday evening under the auspices of the City Teachers League.

Selection of "Macbeth" as the Shakespearean play to be presented at the Santa Ana high school auditorium by the Fritz Leiber company Friday evening is a "most favorable" choice, in the opinion of Mrs. Robert Northcross, instructor in Shakespeare at the Santa Ana junior college.

"Macbeth" is considered by many critics to rate highest among Shakespeare's plays," Mrs. Northcross declared. "It has the greatest dramatic appeal and its lines are the truest poetry of any of the playwright's works."

"The vigorous action of the play makes it particularly adapted to the stage. It is spectacular and so makes a ready appeal by the rapidity of events. It is short enough to make unnecessary to do any cutting in dramatizing."

Mrs. Northcross asserted that good appreciation of Shakespeare's plays was shown when the students at the high school and junior college expressed in voluntary ballot their wish to see "Macbeth."

The entertainment is being staged under the auspices of the City Teachers' League.

A number of Santa Ana people who have seen Fritz Leiber in his performances are enthusiastic over the engagement of the American Shakespearean interpreter. Ernest Crozier Phillips, community play director and dramatics teacher, T. E. Glenn of the high school, and Leroy Tindall, Santa Ana business man, all have high praises of the acting of Fritz Leiber after having seen plays from his repertoire which includes nine offerings.

ROTARY EFFORT IS SUBJECT OF TALK

All over the world during February, Rotarians, under the direction of their international organization, are turning their thoughts toward furtherance of international peace and good will. It was this world-wide effort that gave the Rev. Thomas Grice, pastor of the First Methodist church of San Pedro, a subject for his address delivered yesterday at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club at St. Ann's Inn. The speaker is a member of the Rotary club of San Pedro.

"The seventh object of Rotary," said the speaker, "is the promotion of international understanding, founded on the principles of service. By reason of the fact that Rotary clubs are organized and actively at work in 28 countries of the world, imbued with the spirit of accomplishment of this great ideal in a practical way, Rotary is a vital force in world relations."

"Rotarians through their clubs are seeking to understand one another and to see each other's viewpoint, and this is true not only of professional and business relations, but in international relations, regardless of color, creed and country. This spirit sweetens bitter waters."

Vocal numbers by Mrs. A. G. Burton, of Santa Ana, accompanied by Glenn Tindall, offered the musical features of the program.

Marking the birthday of Rotary, the Santa Ana club is to hold a banquet at the Ebell clubhouse on the evening of February 14, when the wives of Rotarians will be special guests. E. S. Morrow and C. V. Davis, Rotarians, have invited club members and their wives to lunch with them at 514 North Main next Friday, the 13th, which is the birthday of the hosts.

FILE COMPLAINT IN IRVINE CAR CRASH

A complaint was filed yesterday through the district attorney's office charging George R. Potts, Glendale telephone man, with reckless driving in connection with the accident on the Irvine boulevard early Sunday morning, when a car driven by Potts collided with a car driven by E. W. Barron, who was killed in the crash.

Potts has been removed from the Orange county hospital to the county jail, and his bail has been fixed at $250, which he said he would be able to furnish today.

Potts suffered severe injuries about the face and head, and he was heavily bandaged when brought into court yesterday. He refused to plead in the case, yesterday, as his attorney was not present.

'Y' CONVENTION TO BE NOTABLE GATHERING OF STATE LEADERS

Reservations Pour Into Local Headquarters For Confab In Santa Ana

DINNER ON FRIDAY IS TO START SESSIONS

Fred B. Smith of New York Will Be Principal Speaker at Gathering

With reservations pouring into convention headquarters, established at the Y. M. C. A. building, indicating an unprecedented attendance from all parts of the state, it is possibly necessitating that a limit be set on local reservations to provide sufficient accommodations for out-of-town delegates and visitors, Alexander Brownridge, chairman of the convention committee today addressed the following open letter to the Santa Ana membership of the Y. M. C. A.

"Our state convention opens next Friday evening with a dinner at the Ebell Club House at 8:30 o'clock. This is an event which we wish all our people in Santa Ana might attend."

"It will be a notable gathering of men from all over the state. The principal speaker, Fred B. Smith, of New York, is known as one of our strongest leaders in all lines of religious work. We would like for you to hear him."

However, we are limited by the size of the dining room, which makes it impossible for us to be certain of having places for all who wish to attend. We must first provide for the delegates from out of town, as a matter of courtesy, but we hope to have room for at least one hundred of our own members."

"So far as space will permit, we shall accept reservations from local residents in the order in which they are received, with the understanding that we cannot guarantee you a place, but will do our best for you. If you would like to attend the dinner, please write or telephone at once to General Secretary Smedley, (Phone 96) and a ticket will be saved for you if possible."

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. office any time up to Thursday evening, provided the supply holds out.

GRANDSON TO GET MUCH OF ESTATE

The will of the late John H. Bulpitt, who died in this city February 5, leaving an $8000 estate, made his grandson, Dr. John M. Bulpitt, chief heir, it was shown today by the document, which was on file in the superior court for probate.

Property at Wilmington and at Bishop comprise most of the estate. The Wilmington property, valued at $4500, was left to Dr. Bulpitt, with the proviso that, from returns of its sale, the sums of $1500 were to be paid to each of two granddaughters, Virginia and Elizabeth Bulpitt, of Orange.

Other bequests were made to heirs in Bishop and Dr. Bulpitt was named as residuary legatee.

PETITION BY OLINDA HELD INSUFFICIENT

Possibility of no action being taken on petitions filed by residents in the Brea and Olinda elementary school districts, asking for the organization of an independent and separate high school district, loomed up today with the statement of County Superintendent Mitchell.

Information to that effect was given the leaders of the secession movement over the long distance telephone this morning. It was learned at the superintendent's office.

In this connection County Superintendent Mitchell pointed out, however, that the Olinda district has the right to file a supplementary petition, which, together with the original petition, would perhaps meet the requirements of the law as to number of signatures by heads of families having children in school.

It was added that as soon as this supplementary petition has been filed and checked up, official action will be taken on the same, and if found sufficient, an election will be called in accord with the request of the petitioners.

5TH SENTENCE LOOMING FOR LOCAL MEXICAN

Francisco Gonzales, whose career is contemporary with that of William J. Bryan in one respect—the fact that they both started running in 1896—was today awaiting his fifth sentence to state's prison, following his conviction late yesterday of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The jury was out little more than an hour before finding a verdict of guilty. Gonzales had been accused in connection with a gun duel with Pedro de los Reyes, of Placentia. Superior Judge F. C. Drumm fixed next Friday at 9:30 a. m. as the time for pronouncing sentence.

Gonzales has served sentences both in San Quentin and Folsom at four previous times, it is said. His first sentence was in 1896.

"Gonzales started running the same year Bryan did, but got caught," said one official today. "At that, he has served four terms, and Bryan didn't get in at all."

SHRINE MEETING SET FOR FRIDAY

Indicating that he and his official staff are determined on outlining a complete program of activity for the year, C. J. Cogan, president of the Orange County Shrine club, announced today that at the mass meeting of the county Shriners at the Masonic temple, Fullerton, Friday, at 8 p. m., the assembled nobles would be asked to approve the personnel of committees on finance, budget and relations of the club with Al Malak temple in Los Angeles.

Shriners today were receiving cards again directing their attention to the mass meeting and urging each to be present. Wearers of the fez, regardless of membership in the club, are urged to respond to the call.

Incidentally, the new president declared that a determined effort is to be made to induce every Shriner in the county to become identified with the club.

A live program of social features has been arranged for the year, Cogan pointed out in stressing his statement that the club this year is going to be on the "map."

Kills Self As Arrest Is Sought

PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 11.—Faced with arrest on charges of embezzlement, David P. Hayes, wealthy Los Angeles stock broker, shot and killed himself in a hotel here last night.

He was sought specifically on a warrant charging embezzlement of $1,179 from Edna D. Henderson, of Hollywood.

When police cornered him in his hotel room, Hayes said: "Well, it's all over—let me get my coat."

Stepping into a closet, the broker shot himself in the head, dying in a few minutes.

MRS. REID SCORES TRIUMPH WITH "BROKEN LAWS"

Mrs. Wallace Reid has scored another brilliant success as a producer of photodramas. Her second great timely picture, "Broken Laws," was shown to interested audiences at Walker's theater yesterday, and voted an unqualified triumph.

Following "Human Wreckage," which was an expose of the narcotic situation, "Broken Laws" is a story of mother love and the law, a vital message to Americans in these days of flagrant law violation and disrespect for the constituted authorities.

But it is more than a vital message. It is an absorbing, entraining drama, well acted, capably directed and with an adequate background of beautiful settings and rich costumes.

Mrs. Reid's performance in the role of Joan Allen, the mother, who through indulgence all but ruins her body, was a bit of work long to be remembered. Mrs. Reid fairly lived the part, making it a sympathetic role for the start.

In her support were such capable players as Percy Marmont, the patient husband of the "jazz baby"; Jacqueline Saunders who did really remarkable work in that role; Ramsey Wallace as Joan's husband, Arthur Rankin and Virginia Lee Corbin as the young people, and Pat Moore and Jane Wray as the children. There was not a weak spot in the entire cast, and the work of these players had much to do with the success of the photodrama.

"IN LOVE WITH LOVE" AT YOST TONIGHT

A contrast in feminine types is always interesting and there is a very striking one in the cast of "In Love With Love," the production which closes at the Yost tonight.

Marguerite De La Motte, cast in the leading role, is very blond with hazel eyes and a rose-tinted complexion. She is a languid type, graceful in movement, and unperturbed in temperament. Her hair curls softly in fascinating tendrils about her neck and forehead, and at night she braids it in two long plaits over her shoulders. She is the old-fashioned girl—one of the best of her kind perhaps, and all the more desirable because of that.

But Mabel Forrest, who plays the "second-best" role in her own humorous, vivacious style is modern to her finger tips. Her black bobbed hair is straight and sleek, and her dark eyes snap dangerously on occasion. She is little and boyish and hard muscled from athletics and she is never quiet for a minute—vocally or otherwise.

The two girls are great friends, on the set and off, and there are many comments about the attractive picture they make together.

CECIL DE MILLE'S NEW FILM SETS NEW BOUNDS

"The Golden Bed," produced by Cecil B. De Mille from Jeanie Macpherson's screen play of Wallace Irwin's novel of the same name, which also ran as a serial in the Review magazine under the title "Tomorrow's Bread," is the current attraction at the West End theater.

Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Lillian Rich, Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Faye are featured in the principal roles of the production which is a story of success and modern marriage.

De Mille has infested this production with scenes that rival for beauty anything that has ever been seen in pictures before. Some say he has gone so far as to outdo his Roman bacchanal episode of "Man-Slaughter," and everyone remembers what that was.

The cast selected to support the principals is more than up to the usual De Mille high standard. In fact, there never has been a cast quite like this one. Henry Walcott, Robert Edeson and Robert Cain are among the more prominent. Others are Charles Clary, Jacqueline Wells, Mary Jane Irving and Don Marion, the last three in juvenile roles.

You can set your own price on a 6-room home and 2 lots, 93-125, to be sold at public auction, Wednesday, Feb. 18, 2:30 p. m. One block north of hospital on Poinsettia.

shown by some of the instances cited by the students. One student writes of his dream struggle with a snake.

He says, "While running across a large field, I tripped and fell close to a large snake that immediately began to coil itself around me. I struggled to free myself and attempted in vain to keep the reptile from sinking his poison fangs into my body."

"I struggled until I was exhausted and the inevitable happened. The snake closed his powerful jaws on my ankle, bringing forth a rush of blood."

"I awakened very tired and felt my ankle which was wet and very sore. On examination I found my struggle had been with the bed clothes and my snake bite had been caused by an electric pad which had become so hot that it caused a blister to raise on my ankle."

"Pajama" Flights

According to Nealley, all of the dreams told by the students seem to be due to a previous knowledge of a situation. One student mentions an "embarrassing situation" where he was forced by fire into the street in his "pajamas" in his dream "thriller."

For the killing of a fly one of the students recited how he had been pursued by the law on a charge of murder. Another declaimed Latin nouns and conjugated Latin verbs in a dream lesson.

It was revealed in the questionnaire that three students have had the novel experience of dreaming that they were dreaming.

The law of chance was advanced to explain the cases where dreams had been fulfilled. A college debater told how he had been impressed in a dream with the facial characters of his opponents. When they met the dream portrait proved to be correct.

Alleged Torturing Is Being Probed

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 11.—Alleged torturing of prisoners on Texas prison farms described in charges by Mrs. J. E. King of the prison advisory board, was to be investigated at a continuation of the joint legislative committee's hearing on charges of mismanagement of the state prison system here today.

Stories of alleged inhuman treatment of prisoners have been told the committee by witnesses, some of them former convicts. Prisoners were beaten to death, others were killed outright and one was flogged, kicked and submerged in icy water, resulting in his death according to the testimony of one former convict.

Girl slaves in Hongkong have been released from bondage.

RULERS' NIGHT IS OBSERVED BY ELKS HERE

With 200 Elks from all parts of the county in attendance, past exalted rulers' night was observed last night by Santa Ana lodge, 7th nomination of officers was held.

The various stations were filled as follows: Exalted ruler, R. C. Peterson; leading knight, W. F. Newton; loyal knight, H. A. Lowe; touring knight, W. F. Diers; esquire, Joseph C. Burke; secretary, W. H. McClain; treasurer, W. C. Jerome; chaplain, P. S. Roper; inner guard, H. C. Head; Tyler, P. G. Beissel; trustees, Fred A. Ross, H. A. Gardner and J. Fred Parsons.

History of the lodge and various incidents which happened during meetings were told at last night's gathering. Among those present were seven past exalted rulers and the present exalted ruler of Anaheim lodge.

Charles Wellman and Bill Hatch, Los Angeles radio entertainers, furnished a program of vocal and piano numbers. A lunch was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Gladstone and Lincoln Theme of Aked's Talk

Promised to be one of the most remarkable lectures ever given in Santa Ana, the one to be delivered next Friday afternoon at the high school auditorium by Dr. Charles F. Aked, on the subject, "Lincoln and Gladstone, Twin Giants of the English Speaking Race," according to Superintendent J. A. Cranston, of the city schools.

While this lecture forms a regular part of a series of lectures outlined for the Santa Ana city teachers' institute, the public is invited to attend, it was announced. Dr. Aked, considered one of the best informed and forcible speakers in the Southland, is pastor of the Wilshire boulevard Congregational church, Los Angeles.

Capital Letter

By HARRY B. HUNT
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Radio cannot yet compete with newspapers in the broadcasting of national news, in the belief of President Coolidge.

White house opinion and White house comment, therefore, will continue to be broadcast through the medium of Washington correspondents rather than through crystal sets and super heterodynes.

Radio interests, anxious to extend the field of broadcasting to cover the most important news sources in business and government, have been most anxious to line President Coolidge up as a regular speaker on the air.

They have extolled his as the ideal radio voice. They have stressed the idea that via radio he could maintain virtually a personal contact with the whole country.

The popular expression of approval which followed the president's speech on economy a week ago, in his address to the bureau of the budget, which was broadcast through a dozen stations, made the present seem an opportune time for pushing the idea of developing what some have described as a "wireless president."

Regular radio addresses—once a month, twice a month—were suggested. But, whether from conservatism or canniness no one knows, Coolidge shook his head.

"I find I am able to broadcast my views very effectively through the newspaper men," he said. "I do not believe there is any necessity for any fixed program of radio talks by the president."

Secretary Jim Davis' decision to retire from the cabinet and then his re-decision to remain at the head of the department of labor, is causing his colleagues to "rid" him a bit.

Jim, they say, reminds them of the fellow who rushed up to the ticket window just as the train was pulling in and shouted:

"Gimme a round trip ticket."
"Where to? Where to?" demanded the ticket seller.

"Why, back here of course, y' blamed fool."

The ticket Jim really wanted, they insist, was one that would bring him right back where he started from. And that's what he got.

Alex P. Moore, of Pittsburgh and Madrid, American ambassador to Spain, is the first of our major "diplomats" to arrive in Washington to attend the Coolidge inauguration, March 4.

"The most severe punishment dealt out by Spanish justice," Moore says, "is to be sentenced to jail over Sunday. That means the prisoner will miss the week's bull fight."

SEARCH HERE FOR BOGUS CHECK MAN

County authorities have been asked to be on the look-out for a man supposed to have been headed towards Santa Ana, who is wanted at San Luis Obispo, on a fictitious check charge. That the same man, who is accompanied by a woman and a five-year-old boy, may try to pass worthless checks here, police ask that merchants and others in watching for the trio.

According to information received here from San Luis Obispo authorities, the man is 50 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches in height, has dark complexion, smooth shaven, dark hair, small eyes and large feet. The woman is described as being approximately 30 years of age, height 5.3 feet, weight, 115 pounds, light complexion and blue eyes.

At San Luis Obispo, the man passed checks, showing storekeepers three bills of materials from lumber yards, telling them he had purchased lots there and would build. He then proceeded to buy several small articles, paying for them with the bogus checks and taking cash for the difference.

Felony warrants for the man and woman have been issued at San Luis Obispo.

ARTISTIC NEW YORK WORRIES WHEN SCRAP HEAP YAWNS FOR FAMED MADISON STATUE DIANA

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—An New York is worked up over a girl. In this world capital of feminine pulchritude, it is rare when a lone female captivates the city's attention.

Of course, this particular lady is head and shoulders and other things above her sisters, and long has been looked up to as a model of beauty.

Her name is Diana; the Diana raised during eyes to Diana's loveliness.

New York newspapers are printing editorials about disposition of the statue. It is the subject of controversy in art and political circles.

If New York hesitates, the scrap heap yawns. Some such sum as $25,000 is needed to preserve the statue and convey it to Columbia university, where it is proposed to place Diana amidst architecture suited to her loveliness. Columbia is willing but where is the $25,000?

REPAIR WORK ORDERED FOR BROKEN WALKS

Nat H. Neff, street superintendent and city engineer, under authority of the city council, today had initiated a campaign for repair of all broken sidewalks in the city.

Property owners on Fourth, Fifth and Main streets, where sidewalks are broken, were notified yesterday and today to start rebuilding work within one week, and owners on other streets will be served with similar notices as the repair work is extended.

The engineer pointed out that owners who have the work done under private contract would save themselves expense. Where owners do not act, the city will direct the repair work under the 1911 improvement act and charge the costs to the property—the legal steps involved adding to the costs.

"Many sections of sidewalk in the city are in a dangerous and disgraceful condition and it is the desire of the city council to have repairs made at once," Neff said.

"Under the law we are required to give only three days' notice before starting work under the improvement act. However, we want to be fair with the owners and are giving them a week in which to get the work started under private contract.

"There are many points where the condition of the sidewalk is a liability to the city, for should a person be injured, the city, under certain situations, would be responsible."

MOTHER SAID TAKE CARDUI

Cincinnati Lady Got So Weak
That She Felt Tired and
Draggy All the Time—Says
Cardui Helped Her.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Mrs. G. M. Hughes, 1510 Race Street, says: "I was run down, simply all worn-out, no life, weak as could be. I didn't know what I was going to do for I grew tired dragging around. I would go to bed tired, get up tired."

"I thought a good tonic would be what I needed. My mother recommended Cardui and I can now readily see why. It did me wonders of good, built me up and put new life into me. I took three bottles and from the first one I was improved... felt fine. I have taken it since, on one or two occasions, for weakness. I can highly recommend it."

For nearly 50 years, Cardui has been in use by thousands of women who have written to tell of the great benefit they have received from it. Medical writers have known of and recommended for over 600 years the botanical plant which is one of the principal ingredients of Cardui, as having been found of benefit in many female complaints.

Cardui, the woman's tonic, tested by time is today manufactured in modern laboratories by up-to-date pharmaceutical methods, and is for sale by all reliable druggists.

Everywoman's Husband

There is a saying that to every married woman there comes a time when she must battle to hold her husband's love—that sooner or later "the other woman" comes into his life. Nellie faced this problem. Her husband was as gentle and kind as ever, but she had positive proof that he was drifting away from her. She knew that a younger, prettier woman was slowly but surely occupying the place that only a wife should occupy in his mind and heart.

In True Story Magazine for March, Nellie tells how she solved this age-old problem. Every married woman, every girl who expects to be married should read it. It appears under the title "Prisoners of the Night." Be sure and get the March True Story today.

ROUGH RED RASH ON BABY'S CHEEK

Was Scaly and Itched.
Healed by Cuticura.

"When my baby was about two months old she developed a small, red spot on her cheek. This gradually spread and was in the nature of a rough, scaly, red rash. It apparently itched for the baby scratched, and I was obliged to use elbow cuffs."

"I tried other remedies with only temporary relief. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped her. I continued the treatment and in two weeks she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. D. Young, 2524-34th Ave., Oakland, Calif., Aug. 30, 1924.

Farm News of Orange County

DAIRY FACTS ARE PRESENTED BY SECRETARY

BY A. M. STANLEY,
Secretary-Manager, Orange County
Farm Bureau.

If there is any profit in the Orange county dairy business at the present time, nobody is willing to claim it. Each party to the industry claims the other fellow is guilty. The consumers say its all the other folks. The creameries say its the feed dealers, and the dairymen say its both the creamery and the feed dealer that is getting the cream. The feed dealer says nothing. How can he? Everybody knows that he is just a intermediary and has little or no control over the price. So the game of "Profit, profit, who got the profit?" goes merrily on.

Perhaps the only way to arrive at an intelligent understanding of the situation will be to lay the industry on the dissecting table. In doing so a few nerves may be cut, but the sacrifice should be made to the benefit of the whole.

Use of Milk Urged. The industry has not recovered from the "consumers strike" which was declared last year when the price of milk was placed too high. As a consequence the dairymen have been forced to take care of a milk surplus, even though the usual milk supply for the Los Angeles market was decreased by the wholesale slaughter of dairy herds last summer. People are not yet using fresh milk as they should even though the present price may be considered at the cost of production. A greater use of milk would relieve the industry of the milk surplus and would be beneficial to all in ratio to the use made.

In the meantime, all engaged in the business are busy combating actual loss. The dairymen, forced to pay high feed prices, while the milk market has slumped, feels that the creameries are not assuming their fair share of the retarding factors. He states that the creameries are charging just as much for distributing the milk as formerly. He calls to mind the fact that only a short time ago, when milk retailed at 15 cents per quart, as it now does, the creamery paid 98 cents a pound for butterfat. Today the creamery pays in the neighborhood of 88 cents, and to the mind of some dairymen, they add insult to injury by charging for hauling of milk from the farm.

Rate Declared Unfair.

It has been pointed out as unfair that the rate for hauling milk to Long Beach, a distance of 10 miles or more, is 15 cents a can, while some of the local creameries are charging as high as 24 cents a can for an average haul of five miles. The dairymen have asked the privilege of delivering their own milk to the creameries and thus save this expense, but the creameries refuse to accept the milk. The reason of maintaining an economic route and regular delivery. They claim this refusal by reminding the dairymen that the cans are the property of the creamery.

Thus the dairymen finds himself between the upper and nether mill stone; high price feeds on one hand and expensive deliveries system on the other with a milk surplus to weigh down the whole. No wonder he urges the consumer to take up that surplus! If he could be granted the boon of hauling his own milk to the creameries the economic pressure would be greatly relieved.

As a relation to these charges the creameries are not without their arguments. Rigid inspection and sanitation laws have caused the distributors an added expense. So closely are they adhering to these conditions the creameries are actually delivering milk of the "certified" grade but at a regular "Grade A" price. In addition he must carry a large overhead expense to satisfy an exacting public.

Bottles Not Returned.

In the strange tangle of the milk business the consumer is also charged with contributing to the loss of profit by the creameries. Moreover the charge is just. The consumers have become negligent in the return of bottles and as high as 380 bottles have been found in one basement. These bottles, are required by state law to be returned to the creameries which own them with dispatch, but it is a difficult task to enforce. Having innumerable milk containers scattered over the territory certainly adds to the overhead of the distributors. Add to this the expense of hand washing and inspecting many bottles which have been used for containers of substances other than milk, which is also contrary to law, and the creamery has a perfect alibi in regards to absence of profit. He sees no way of granting a relief to either the public or the dairymen as long as these habits of the consumers continue.

To sum up this arrangement, we may all assist in putting this industry back on its feet to our mutual benefit. The consumer may decrease their expense by permitting the dairymen to haul his own milk. The dairymen may help by weeding out his boarders, watching his breeding schedule and the health of his herd. The feed dealer may continue to handle his goods on his present close margin. The rest of us may help by cooperating, using up the surplus to the benefit of our health, and none of us should let down on cleanliness and those things which pertain to the sanitation of our principal food supply.

Lemon Pruning Meetings Are Scheduled

A series of four lemon pruning demonstrations has been arranged by the agricultural extension service, co-operating with the farm bureau, to take place Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The location of these demonstrations are as follows:

Feb. 17, 10 a. m., Yorba Linda, place of Fred Johnson, Eureka street, one-half mile north of Yorba Linda Blvd.

Feb. 17, 2 p. m., La Habra, Chiliberg ranch, W. A. Pinkham, foreman, on county line one-fourth mile south of state highway.

Feb. 18, 10 a. m., El Monte, place of M. E. Whitten, corner East Chapman and Prospect avenues.

Feb. 18, 2 p. m., Garden Grove, place of F. B. Cleveland, corner West Chapman and Nursery avenues.

W. R. Schoonover will conduct these demonstrations in co-operation with the local extension office. The demonstration and discussion will take up the treatment of trees affected by the recent cold spell, as well as showing the approved method of pruning practice. The meeting is open to all lemon growers.

TOTAL OF 779 COWS TESTED DURING MONTH

There were 779 cows tested during January by the cow-testing association. They produced on the average of 892 pounds of milk and 37.3 pounds of butterfat.

J. E. McGregor's herd averaged 47 pounds of butterfat, which was the highest production of any herd under 25 cows.

Mrs. A. Smith's herd averaged 51.5 pounds, which placed it highest in herds of 25 to 40 cows.

The R. T. dairy averaged 42.4 pounds, which was highest of any herd over 40 cows.

Ratti's dairy of Santa Ana had the highest producing cow for the month. She produced 2499 pounds of milk, containing 102.5 pounds of butterfat. This is an average of 80 pounds of milk and 3.3 pounds of butterfat a day. Every cow in the herd with a production like this is the ambition of every dairyman. Two other cows need honorable mention, however, one owned by L. C. Lea, which produced 85.4 pounds of butterfat, and one owned by R. F. Hazard, producing 82.2 pounds.

Increase Noted

An increase in the average production of butterfat is noted this month. With 779 cows tested, the average production of milk was 892 pounds and 37.3 pounds of butterfat. This is an increase of 48 pounds of milk and 1.2 pounds of butterfat over that of last month, and an increase of 33 pounds of milk and 2.7 pounds of butterfat over that of January last year. This is a splendid showing as compared to the basis of $1 per pound for butterfat, this increase in average production would mean a return of $2,103.30 in excess of that received January of last year on the same butterfat price basis. This may not mean that the dairymen have been able to secure a larger profit over that of last year, because other economic factors may enter in that out this figure down but it does show that where a herd has reached the average production of the association, a larger return has been secured. In other words, the average cow produced 35.1 pounds of butterfat in January, whereas she produced 37.3 pounds this year, which meant an increase of $2.70 in the value of her production.

With conditions comparable to those of last year, this increased average production, if properly managed, better feeding, and elimination of low producers.

Care of Dry Cows

One point that is often overlooked is the care of the dry cows. These are so often turned out in dry pastures and exposed to the elements, with the result that they freshen in very poor condition, which is a serious mistake, it is said. While dry cows do not need the same feed, care, and attention as those milking, they should be handled so that they are in good flesh when freshening. A small amount of grain is usually necessary, but only low protein grains should be fed at this time. No better ration can be provided than silage and alfalfa hay, with two to four pounds of concentrates, depending on the condition of the cow. High protein grains are apt to cause considerable udder trouble. Carbonaceous feeds are needed to put on the required flesh.

To Construct Tank Thursday

A field demonstration of septic tank construction will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock at the D. W. Crist place, Casa Loma avenue, one-half mile north of the Yorba Linda boulevard. W. M. Cory, assistant county farm advisor, will be in charge. All interested are invited to be present.

Pedigree breeding has shown that high egg production is inherited. The tendency toward high egg production is transmitted by the male as well as the female.

BUREAU WORK IN 1924 TOLD BY J. A. SMILEY

By J. A. SMILEY,
Past President, Orange County
Farm Bureau.

In starting out for 1924, our first problem was membership. I am sorry to say we fell down in this, as we had not completed our drive when the foot and mouth disease broke out in Los Angeles county, and we did not think it wise to canvass the farmers. But notwithstanding this fact we had the largest paid-up membership in the state. I think the new membership made up for the loss in numbers and ease of canvass. Our co-operative associations have helped us much in this and we hope we have also helped them in their problems. Our paid-up membership last year was 1178. We are ahead of these figures this year but we ought not to stop short of 2000.

High Spots of Year

Just a few of the high spots we touched during the past year. We have built up a close contact with the co-operative associations, the chambers of commerce and all other civic organizations. We especially wish to mention our county board of supervisors who have been willing to help and advise us in every way possible. A representative of the county farm bureau was appointed on a committee to interview the governor to secure money to pay for the stock killed in combating the foot and mouth disease, attended the California Development association in San Francisco, acted as vice-chairman on the southern branch of a pool committee, helped form a pool price for poultry and dairy men; sponsored race relationship survey, met with the bankers of the county to develop a bookkeeping system for the farmers, worked with the Associated Chambers of Commerce on water conservation, surveys and flood control and secured a raise in the appropriation from Riverside and San Bernardino counties for water control.

We are now working on a survey of the water conditions of the county as a future basis for flood control and securing state aid for same.

Committee on Job

Our public utility committee has been on the job all the time, securing a 10 per cent reduction in electric rates and preventing a surcharge of another 10 per cent making a total saving to the consumers of Southern California of about $1,100,000. They also helped on many gas extensions and other matters pertaining to public utilities. At the request of the railroad conservation committee of nine members, we appointed a power committee, and secured for the farmers their just share of power during the power shortage, assuring us of being a big factor in future relations with the power companies. This was without a doubt the most important accomplishment achieved by the Orange county farm bureau.

We put on a picnic entertaining representatives of the 11 western states, the president of the American Farm Bureau federation, the president of the California Farm Bureau federation, representatives from the seven southern counties and the department of agriculture of California.

We have in our dairy department over 1200 cows under test. In co-operation with the extension service, we held 467 demonstrations and meetings with an attendance of over 31,650. We have 15 farm centers, 15 center directors, five directors at large, seven directors of departments as follows: walnut, citrus, poultry, dairy, beekeepers, grain and persimmon. Through the grain department we have introduced a variety of barley which yields more than double the yield of common barley.

We have been working on a fair trial along, and expect to put on a bigger and better fair than we have ever held in Southern California this fall.

Bureaus Not in Politics

In conclusion, the farm bureau is not in politics and I hope it never will be, but we should scrutinize every bill affecting agriculture, taxes and bond issues, as the farmer has about all he can stand in the way of taxes. Do you know our population in the past 20 years has increased 20 per cent while the taxes have increased 100 per cent? That one to every 12 is supported by the taxes of the other 12. Now if this ratio keeps us for the next 20 years one out of every six will be an office holder supported by the other five. There are too many commissions investigating ever move we make. In my estimation we are over governed.

The commission admits the export duties generally should be frowned on but claims that it is decidedly necessary in this instance.

Favor Duty On Canadian Wheat

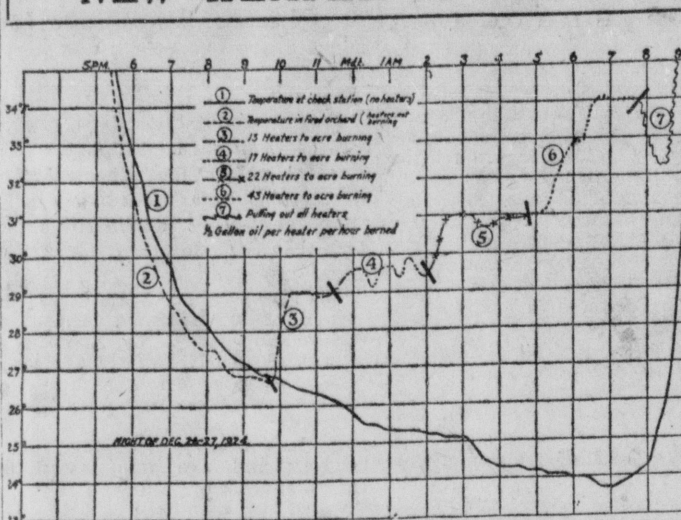

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 11.—An export duty should be placed on Canadian wheat entering the United States, the special royal investigation commission announced in its report on Canadian grain trade today.

The report contends that United States millers obtain Canadian wheat virtually free from tariff duty to grind for export and as a result considerable American flour from Canadian wheat finds its way to the overseas European markets in competition with the Canadian product. As a result an export duty is asked equal to United States tariff on Canadian wheat.

The commission admits the export duties generally should be frowned on but claims that it is decidedly necessary in this instance.

A certificate has been issued by the state and United States departments of agriculture to this effect, according to Wagner. This is the first herd in the state of California and one of the few in the entire country to receive such a certificate, Wagner said.

NEW HEATER IS SUCCESS

Above is a chart showing the performance of an exchange-type, nine-gallon orchard heater with the new Scheu Cone Louvre stack which was installed in the old Ray grove near Cucamonga.

Exchange Type Heaters To Be Exhibited at S. B. Orange Show

The sensation of the season among growers interested in frost protection is the new heater which actually raised the temperature in a heated grove to 34 degrees while outside the thermometer recorded 23 1/2 degrees. This conclusively proved the protection that can be obtained by using the exchange-type, nine-gallon orchard heater equipped with the new Scheu Cone Louvre stack.

The graphic chart shown above gives the actual record of this performance in the old Ray grove near Cucamonga. The control thermographs were under the supervision and care of an entirely disinterested observer. The thermograph recording the blackline was located in an adjoining grove with no heaters used.

It is significant that, at the very coldest hour, 7 a. m., outside the heated grove, the highest temperature was obtained inside, with 43 heaters per acre burning. Safety, 31 degrees, was maintained with 22 heaters. Another factor of interest is the low oil consumption, one-half gallon per heater per hour. This and the additional fact that the heater is practically smokeless, are points which engaged the attention of every citrus grower in the neighborhood.

Sixteen thousands of the new heaters were used during the cold snaps of this winter, and in every instance they proved a revelation to the growers. Not only does the new Scheu Cone Louvre Stack have greater efficiency, but it combines with that low oil consumption and is practically smokeless.

It is planned to demonstrate this latest improvement in the exchange-type heater at the forthcoming Orange show in San Bernardino and later at the groves of interested citrus men.

PLAN DRAINAGE TOUR SATURDAY

A delegation of growers from Riverside and Orange counties will Saturday inspect the drainage system of the Newhope drainage district, which will soon be completed by the construction contractors. According to R. L. Loucks, engineer in charge, the last length of tile will be laid in a few days.

Prof. W. W. Weir, drainage engineer from the college of agriculture, together with the county agricultural agent, will conduct an educational tour to point out some of the important features of construction in the Newhope drainage system. The growers will be assembled at Blankenbeckler's corner, corner West Fifth street and Buero road, at 9:30 a. m., Saturday, February 14.

Representatives from the other 10 drainage districts in the county will be on hand to witness the completion of construction. Word has been received by the county agricultural agent, H. E. Walberg, that a delegation of growers from Riverside expect to be present to observe the new district for the purpose of reporting back to a district that is in the process of organization in that county.

A crop map of the Newhope district, which has recently been completed, will be shown to the growers. This map was made at the request of the directors of the Newhope district for the purpose of watching the development of orchard crops in the district following drainage reclamation. A similar map will be completed five years from date to draw a comparison to note the benefits of drainage in the district.

All growers interested in drainage are invited to participate in this tour.

S. A. MILK PLANTS HAVE HIGH SCORE

Milk plants in Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and Huntington Beach, recently scored by State Factory Inspector Ghigolite showed an average score of 91.9, one plant scoring as high as 96.5.

This shows that the management of these plants have cooperated splendidly with the state regulations and have gone to great expense in furnishing equipment and buildings to insure the best sanitary conditions in the handling of their products.

The rapid centering of population in cities in recent years has called for a greater volume handling of milk and a corresponding transformation and expansion in milk plants.

Laws and regulations have been enacted to insure the wholesomeness of milk and its products and methods in handling have been guided by the research work carried on in the state laboratories. Plant operators have been quick to avail themselves of the recommendations of such work.

DISC HARROW IS INVENTED BY H. F. TOWNER

H. F. Towner, after two years of deep thought, and discouraging experiments, has invented a clean-cut solid gang tandem disc harrow, cover crop specifications, in which he has eliminated the objections usually found in implements of this character.

The solid gang means no centers left uncut. The rigid connection between front and back gang means the back gang will cut as much and as deep as the front; also the back gang will cut on centers of front gang, and trail or follow exactly where set, on turns as well as straight away. The offset features of the disc are astonishing, as the disc can be set off either side of tractor, without the side draft that is so damaging to tractors. There are no levers, no loose connections to wear out and thereby loose control. The only wearing parts are the bearings and one oscillator bolt.

The bearings are a new idea, being bronze for the movable bearing running in a grease bath, inclosed in immovable bearing, inside dirt proof boxing. Spool has no wear on it, end thrust is eliminated by the ingenious construction of bearing, and wear is cut down to a minimum.

All spools are nine-inch, all blades 20-inch or larger. It will disc to or from trees without changing adjustment. The pitch adjustment is very simple, also the off-side adjustment. Gang rods are 1 1/4 inch spring steel, weight boxes are a part of each frame.

The action of the disc, in actual work, demonstrates the wisdom of its construction, and is a revelation to those accustomed to the working of the old style harrows.

Mr. Towner's idea was to get away from the old stereotyped methods, and the results obtained show that the new construction has brought out possibilities not dreamed of when the harrow was first tested. It is a deep tillage disc harrow indeed, thus obviating the necessity for running tractor and harrow over the land until a packing condition (very undesirable) is obtained.

Mr. Towner is into production on this new disc, and is receiving orders from dealers wherever shown, as it has created a sensation in the disc market.

Demonstrations have been made in all kinds of soils, with tractors covering all capacities, for over 60 days. Old time implement dealers and practical farmers have not yet noted one unsatisfactory feature but have universally congratulated the maker for having produced a real disc harrow.

Demonstrations are still going on, as dealers are coming to Santa Ana every day to see this new sensation of the implement trade.

Financial and Market News

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE
CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Grain futures broken sharply in late trading on the Board of Trade today. May wheat led with a drop to $1.78, six cents down yesterday's close and a new low on the present turn. The market opened weak but rallied and remained in high territory until noon when the break developed.

Total sales of grain to Russia aggregated four million bushels of low grade wheat and 1,100,000 barrels of flour.

Selling pressure in corn was due to the very weak cash situation and the break in wheat. Terminal elevators report over-abundant stocks and restricted demand.

Oats weakened under the same influences as corn.

Provisions dropped off with grains and hogs.

WALL ST. JOURNAL
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Pre-holiday consideration exerted considerably less influence than usual in today's session.

With the upsurge of prices again in full swing, groups active in special stocks were not to be deterred by the prospect of a single day's suspension of business.

Operations for the rise were vigorously prosecuted in the afternoon, after a period of breath taking, only displayed renewed animation with special activity at the best level of the movement.

Motor shares also scored substantial advances, reflecting the prospects for the business inspired by General Motors' constructive dividend action.

Good sized recessions from the early high level, however, followed in the afternoon by reports spread regarding the possibilities of an increase in the bank rate at the meeting after the close. But the heavy offerings started by this worn rumor were readjusted by the market, and the interests realizing how ridiculous it was to borrow trouble over the credit situation.

Hur and There
In Local Sports
By Eddie West

Alex Brownridge, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants National bank, is one of the most enthusiastic sportsmen in Santa Ana. He knows and takes a deep interest in football. He follows baseball religiously. He is a close friend of Jimmy Austin, Ernie Johnson, "Dazzy" Vance, George Siler, Ken Williams and dozens of other baseball stars whose names are by-words the nation over. Some mighty interesting baseball checks have passed over his desk at the local bank in the past few years.

Most people know Brownridge as an ardent supporter of clean athletics. Few realize that he once was perhaps Canada's best known and most skillful lacrosse player. Lacrosse, you may know, is to Canada what baseball is to the United States.

Brownridge played with the Ferns and Brampton teams during his career as a lacrosse expert. Both these aggregations were the championship teams of the entire dominion of Canada. They were, virtually, the Washington Senators of the dominion.

The fame of the Santa Ana man's game is well remembered by Canadians. Former residents of the country are going to hold a picnic within the next two weeks in Los Angeles and the feature event of the day is going to be a lacrosse game between two teams of former stars.

Brownridge has been called on to play with one of these teams.

ITH the most brilliant field that ever faced a starter for a sprint race at a winter meeting slated to go to the post at Tijuana Sunday afternoon, scores of Santa Ana thoroughbred lovers will make the border racetrack their destination when this first stake event of the season—the Speed Handicap—is run.

The Speed Handicap is a dash of 5 1/4 furlongs and approximately $5000 will go to the owner of the triumphant horse.

Such valuable horseflesh as Osprey, Swingalong, Phulsa and General Thatcher to say nothing of Girl Scout, Right On Time, Postilion, Better Luck, Couer De Lion, The Mohawk, Time Exposure, Buster Keaton and Nayari will go to the post.

Osprey probably will carry top weight. Swingalong, fleet New York sprinter, will not lack for admirers. Phulsa, the French horse, only beaten a neck in France by Epinard, will have a large following.

Already, Tijuana reports say, the owners are engaging their riders and the Speed Handicap will see the best of Tijuana jockeys in the saddle. Osprey will have Petie Walls up while Hooper will be astride Swingalong. Shaffer will have the mount on General Thatcher. Other first string boys who will have mounts are Elston, Hoagland, Metcalf, Taplin, Griffin, Fisher, McHugh, Roberts and Edwards.

Eddie Collins, the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, began his professional baseball career in 1906, after having distinguished himself on the Columbia university nine.

Many amateur golfers have taken up the Scotch game of curling as a winter pastime and it is a common thing now for golf clubs in the Northern states to have curling ponds.

LOCAL HOCKEY CO-EDS AGAIN TIE ANAHEIM

Brilliant Rally In Final Moments Ends 2-2 Tilt; Fullerton Here Tomorrow

For the second time in as many weeks, the Santa Ana and Anaheim high school girls' hockey teams battled to a tie here yesterday afternoon. The only difference was that the score was 2 to 2 instead of 3 to 3 as it was in the first engagement between the two squads.

The play in the first quarter was scoreless, neither side being able to get the ball past the defense. Late in the second period the Anaheim forwards shoved the ball through the local goal for the first marker of the game. The score remained this way until the end of the half.

Soon after the beginning of the second half Anaheim scored its second and last goal. With the score 2 to 0 against them the locals took a new lease on life and reciprocated by carrying the ball down the field and tallying a marker on their own account. Another score tied the count in the last quarter.

This is the second time that Anaheim has led until the last few minutes only to have its hopes of victory blasted by the dazzling moments of the locals in the closing moments of the fray.

Miss "Billie" Crockett, playing her first game at wing, was the bright and particular star of the Poly contingent. It was her work in carrying the ball and her example of fight until the whistle blows that enabled the locals to tie up the score.

The two teams have played three games so far this year. The first game was won by Santa Ana, 4 to 0, and the next two were ties. The same two teams are to meet on Fullerton's field in the near future and settle their differences.

Santa Ana and Fullerton are to stage an encounter with the sticks on the Poly turf tomorrow. On paper the visitors should be whipped for Anaheim defeated them 4 to 2.

The lineup for yesterday's game follows:

Santa Ana Pos. Anaheim
Gavie Baldwin...R.L. A. Callor
E. Corington (C)...R.L. M.J. Van Booven
A. Turner...G.P. V. Dunham (2)
B. Walker (1)...L.L. A. Schmidt
R. Walker...L.W. J. Heath
K. Pierce...R.H. (C) M. Letourte
H. Koser...C.H. E. Eley
L. Fernandez...L.H. H. Gratton
P. Patton...R.B. Latourte
Willa Dunn...L.B. E. Hille
Tuth Davis...G. G. Webb
Substitutes: S. A. Crockett (1) for Baldwin; Meacham for Pierce.

George Paris, holder of the American roller skating championship, will participate in the meet for the world's title at Madison Square Garden on February 27. Almost every nation will be represented in the race. The champions of the various countries will compete and the winner will be recognized as the world's champion. The race will be skated over a two-mile course.

Women Golfers Begin Play At Del Monte

DEL MONTE, Cal., Feb. 11.—Fifty women golfers, many of them with national reputations, teed off today in the qualifying round for the annual Pebble Beach trophy.

The title is believed to lie between Miss Marion Hollins, defending cup holder, and Mrs. W. Hutchings of Winnipeg.

Both women have made excellent scores in practice rounds.

California leaders who will try to bring the cup back to this state are Miss Mary K. Browne, runner up in the national tournament last year, Miss Margaret Cameron, Mrs. Brent Potter and Mrs. W. C. Van Antwerp.

Harry Blaholder, big Garden Grove right hand pitcher, is going back to the Salt Lake Bees again this spring, according to well founded reports current here today. Harry is a brother of George Blaholder of the St. Louis Browns. Four years ago he looked to be the best young prospect on the Pacific Coast. A bad arm temporarily incapacitated him and when other ailments set in Harry became discouraged and refused to report. "Sourpuss" Spencer, the Los Angeles specialist, has been working on his wing and thinks Blaholder is fit to climb back into a uniform. The Bees are to train at Long Beach.

AN OPPORTUNITY
Coach—Now I want all you freshmen to remember that if you can't kick the ball to kick a man on the other side. Now let's get busy. Where's the ball?
Freshie—Never mind the ball. Let's start the game.

Bill Kerr, king of all Orange County distance runners during his prep school days at Huntington Beach, is counted on to bring a flock of points to Stanford's track team this season. Kerr ran close to 4:20 in the mile several times last year—the best time that was recorded on the Pacific Coast. He and "Crummy" Hartranft of Fullerton are important cogs in the Card track machine.

The most important basketball game of the Orange County league season is on the books for Friday when Orange and Anaheim, undefeated league leaders, mingle at Orange. The dope seems to favor the Orangemen although Coach Fitzmorris has a formidable array of talent at the Mother Colony.

"The 10-round game is my meat." That's what Kid Mexico, Huntington Beach promoter-middleweight recently told the writer and considering the Kid's successful start over the route it appears that he knew whereof he spoke. The blond-thatched veteran made his debut at Wilmington and disposed of young Johnny Greb so fast that it was almost pitiful. Mexico never was a lot of a knockout fighter over four rounds but his punches did a lot of damage when he's putting them in there round after round. Mex knows how to take care of himself and he'll make it tough on a lot of our best middleweights. Bert Collima included.

Lyman Kidman, the coach who gave Santa Ana high school its first victory in a league basketball game in two years, says all that keeps Poly from having a championship team is the lack of an indoor court. The alternating from an outside practice court to an indoor floor for games is enough to beat any team before it starts, Kidman believes.

SANTA ANA HI COURT WINNER OVER COMPTON

Kidman's Squad to Oppose Y.M.C.A. Team Tonight, C's Meet Huntington B.

Even though Captain Arold Norton went out of the game in the first few minutes of play with a bad leg and "Red" Meisinger, star guard, didn't get in at all, Coach Lyman Kidman's Santa Ana high school melon bouncing varsity defeated Compton, 25 to 19, yesterday at Compton.

Norton was suffering from an old "cork leg" injury from the football season, and Kidman didn't want to take any chances with it with the annual Fullerton battle so close at hand. The Poly court captain was taken out in the first quarter, Hurd taking his place. Hurd made a brilliant showing, sinking four field shots and one free toss after a foul.

Spencer replaced Meisinger at running guard and also contributed some flashy defensive work. Russell Manderscheid at center was the other Poly substitution.

"Snowy" Beatty, forward, was high point man from Kidman's quintette. The blond-headed kid had a field day, caging five shots from the floor for a total of 10 points.

The high school five will undergo its last baptism of fire tonight before meeting Fullerton here Friday afternoon. Kidman will send his men against R. R. Russick's Y. M. C. A. team after Ed Covington's classy Clas C (110-pound) aggregation has won its fourteenth game of the season at the expense of the Huntington Beach squad. The midget game will begin at 8:15 o'clock and the big teams will go on as soon as possible thereafter.

Yesterday's lineup:
Santa Ana (25) Pos. (19) Compton

KAPLAN BEATS RIDLEY; BOUT ATTRACTS 9000

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Kid Kaplan won an unquestionable newspaper decision over Bud Ridley in a 12 round no-decision fight at the Vernon Coliseum last night. It was called a featherweight fight although Kaplan weighed 132 1/2 pounds and Ridley 128.

Kaplan carried the fighting to his opponent throughout the match, and won 10 out of the 12 rounds, in the judgment of experts at the ringside.

Ridley fought a stubborn defensive battle, and the fans who had expected a knockout applauded him for his gameness.

Kaplan tore into the Seattle boy at a fast pace with a variety of digs and punches, and kept him busy defending himself until the ninth round. At this point of the battle Ridley took the offensive and rocked Kaplan with a right uppercut followed by a fusillade of blows to the head and body that kept the champion covering to protect himself. This was Ridley's only round.

In the final round, with Kaplan's adherents howling for a knockout, Ridley battled the New York boxing commission champion on even terms.

In the semi-final, after taking the count of nine, Johnny Trambitas staggered to his feet and unintentionally fouled Young Datto. It was in the third round of a scheduled eight round affair.

Harry Ritzer defeated Tracy Ferguson in the six round special event, and Paddy Clancy defeated Danny Carlson in the four round opener.

Jack Dempsey and his bride, formerly Estelle Taylor of the movies, were introduced to the 9000 spectators before the main event and were given a wild ovation.

Mary K. Browne of California last fall exploded the theory that golf and tennis, like cucumbers and ice cream, present an impossible combination.

You recall, no doubt, how on entering the national championship for the first time Miss Browne not only qualified handsily but went right on through the field to the finals, where she was finally knocked off by Dorothy Campbell Hurd's steady, machine-like play.

Though defeated Miss Browne demonstrated right there and then that a long and enthusiastic devotion to tennis does not necessarily bar one to greatness as a golfer. Indeed, her technique as a golfer was said to be even better than her old grip on tennis.

Inspired probably by Miss Browne's success, Helen Wills, present national tennis champion—the Mary K. Browne of today—has taken up golf and announcement is made she intends to compete in the local tournaments the coming summer.

There is no reason in the world why Miss Wills shouldn't get just as far in golf as Miss Browne has. Indeed she ought to get farther. She is, for one thing, younger and is beginning at an earlier age. She has a calm competitive temperament and that is important in golf.

What's more, she is rugged enough for testing tournament ordeals and she has been through the mill often enough to face any kind of an assignment with perfect poise and confidence.

It is not inconceivable that she might reach the heights in golf while still dominating the tennis field. Bill Tilden said last summer that Miss Wills was good enough to hold the tennis title for five or seven more years. If she is ever to be a great golfer it will be within that time.

The National Amateur Skating association of the United States was formed in 1886 and was followed two years later by the organization of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada.

The success of the soccer leagues in the country during the first half of the present championship season shows clearly that the game is now established on a firm foundation and that the future of the sport in America is assured.

A YEAR AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1924.

The Mask-Marvel pocket billiard expert, easily defeated Clere Friers in a match game at the Valencia parlors here last night.

C. G. Twist, president of the Santa Ana Country club, announced that bids for the contract of the organization's new clubhouse would be received up to February 18.

The Huntington Beach grade school team defeated the Frances E. Willard junior high school basketball five, 20 to 13.

Verlin Anderson, star Poly center, will be out of the lineup tonight when Coach Ed Covington's basketball team meets Pasadena at the Orange gym.

SHORT SPORTS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Yale and Harvard will meet in their annual regatta at New London on June 19, according to the schedule announced by the athletic committee. The varsity crew will engage in three races. Call for candidates was issued today.

NEW YORK—Two autographed baseballs from King George for John J. McGraw and Charles Comiskey, leaders of the last exhibition tour in Europe, were received at the Giants' office. They were brought over by a member of the American club of London.

WILL REBUILD YALE AT COST OF $5,000,000

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 11.—Spending a sum now estimated at $5,000,000, Yale university is about to start "rebuilding" its plant here. The entire program is to run far in excess of that sum. Two new dormitories will be started this winter. A new gymnasium, probably the largest college gym in the country, is to follow soon, along with a new plant for the Yale law school that will include an exclusive law student dormitory.

When this work is done, or coincident with it, the university expects to reface buildings on the old campus to make them conform to the huge Harkness memorial dormitory group. The $7,000,000 gift of the Harkness family will form the hub of the university when the rebuilding is completed.

Following the new gym an extensive, ornamental library structure to house what is now one of the largest book collections on earth is to go up where today there is a collection of dwelling houses, converted into temporary dormitories, class rooms or business quarters. The best known architect of the country are working out plans for the new developments. Gifts adequate to care for the building program are said to be in hand.

New fraternity houses, a college theater and structures to house undergraduate publications are to be built from time to time in the midst of the larger building program. When the "ideal" in the opinion of those behind the undertaking, incidentally it will help Yale's student and teaching forces increase in a way the Yale of a generation ago hardly conceived.

NAVEL ORANGES TOTAL 250 CARS

Shipments of navel oranges of the Northern Orange Citrus exchange will amount to 250 cars. Manager Dale King estimated today, with only two houses still moving this fruit.

The Placencia Mutual Orange Growers' association and the Placencia Orange Growers' association are the only associations operating.

King set the middle of March for the opening of the season on miscellaneous varieties. While it is true that the fruit is mature enough to ship earlier, it is wiser to wait until the demand is strong enough to look after the small varieties. King remarked. These varieties contain a larger proportion of small sizes than either Valencia or navel.

Considerable new acreage has been added by member associations since the close of the previous season, November 1.

The market is very satisfactory, according to Manager G. W. Sandlands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon association, the level is still higher than that of the 1923-24 season at this date.

CONTINUE CHURCH TRAINING SERIES

The third of the series of church training nights will be observed in the First Methodist church this evening. The program consists of a supper and fellowship at 6 o'clock. A small charge will be made.

At 6:45 o'clock classes will be held in New Testament, taught by Russell J. Bruff; Old Testament, by Russell R. Lutes; missionary education, by Mrs. Mae Chisholm Brown; pageantry and dramatics, by Miss Holly Lash. Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. program for boys and girls, handwork and first aid for intermediate boys and girls. There are also classes for juniors and the small children in singing and story telling.

At 7:40 o'clock a general assembly is arranged, with a song service. A special feature of the assembly this Wednesday will be two selections by the men's chorus. Dr. Betts will give a special address on "The Holy Catholic Church."

Prince Henry May Pay Visit to U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Prince Henry may be the next member of the royal family of Great Britain to visit the United States.

Prince Henry is said to be anxious to make the trip across the Atlantic next summer, after the Prince of Wales has returned from the Argentine.

The prince will probably be given the title of duke of Edinburgh before he makes the trip.

Plan Air Service, New York, Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Reports from Boston that an American group of capitalists is planning to establish an air service between New York and Mexico City, using ships of the Los Angeles type, are believed here to be true. The headquarters of the company, it was said, will be in Boston and overtures are already thought to have been made to the Mexican government.

SAN DIEGO—Rapid progress is being made in construction of a five-arch concrete bridge to span the San Luis Rey river near Oceanside. The bridge will be 670 feet in length and will cost $140,000. The cost is being borne by San Diego county. Five reinforced concrete arches, each 106 feet in length, form the main section of the bridge, the approaches on both sides of the stream bringing the total length to 670 feet. The piers are massive and built to withstand the flood waters that may be carried down from the mountains. Each pier contains 500 yards of cement concrete, the center pier resting on 109 piles, driven to bedrock 55 feet below the stream bed. The end piers rest on solid rock 40 feet below the surface. The bridge floor will be 41½ feet feet above the stream bed, far above any possible high water.

SAN BERNARDINO—San Bernardino county will not hire Charles M. Hatfield, "the rainmaker," Chairman A. G. Kendall of the board of supervisors declared. Hatfield is reported to be seeking a contract to produce rain in the San Bernardino valley.

"I believe the hiring by the county of Hatfield or any other 'rainmaker' would be a misuse of public funds," declared Chairman Kendall. "I do not believe public funds can be expended on any such proposition as, in brief, it is simply gambling."

MONROVIA—A decisive step to make Huntington drive a boulevard 100 feet wide was taken when property owners along the drive in Monrovia, Duarte and Arcadia, joined the movement and offered the footage on their property necessary to do so, as a part of the great "Mountain-to-the-Sea" highway. More than 100 property owners along Huntington drive in Monrovia and Duarte attended the meeting.

MEXICALI—Mexicali is soon to have a municipal library, according to official announcement. The plans for the library, which is to follow the style of the Calexico library, have been completed and the contract is to be let within a short time. The building is expected to cost approximately $15,000. An addition to the Chalmers school is also being considered. This building was found to be necessary because of the steady increase in population of Mexicali. Other school buildings in the city and district are being considered by school officials.

GLENDALE—Contract for the architectural work on the new $275,000 building to be erected by the Glendale Y. M. C. A. on its property on North Louise street has been awarded to a Los Angeles firm, which will prepare the design for the building to harmonize with the floor plans that are being worked out by the building bureau of the association in New York. The plans will be drawn so that the physical, social and educational work of the Y. M. C. A. may be carried on efficiently and economically, and wherever possible the contracts will be let to Glendale firms.

CLAREMONT—Initial steps toward the modification of "dips" on Foothill boulevard, where it passes through Claremont, are under way by the city council. The dips were originally placed in the pavement to provide passages for the storm waters. They served the purpose, but it has been found that the constant pounding of auto wheels as they bounded over the "dips" has weakened some of the paving and repairs are necessary. As a result, it was thought best to either remove or modify them so that an automobile will be enabled to pass without giving the occupants an opportunity to stick their heads through the top. Serious accidents have been caused by drivers unfamiliar with the road driving at too rapid a rate over the "dips."

BRAWLEY—Imperial valley's first asparagus for this season was shipped from Brawley last week. The first crates were sent by express to New York, four days earlier than last year. It is expected that his consignment will bring several dollars a pound, as it will be the first of the season in the New York market. The valley asparagus crop is declared to be in excellent condition and the yield is expected to be heavier than usual.

LEAGUE READY TO DROP SUIT AGAINST CLERK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 11.—Mandamus proceedings against W. R. Wright, city clerk, will be dropped at once, according to announcement by members and officials of the Taxpayers and Voters league, an organization which is fostering a recall movement here against four city councilmen.

Mandamus proceedings were recently instituted in superior court in Santa Ana by W. T. Newland. Newland was one of the signers of a recall petition asking for election of successors to J. H. Macklin, W. R. Wright, Richard Drew and L. R. Ridenour, four city trustees.

New recall petitions bearing the same heading as the first petitions were being circulated here today, while members of the league declared that mistakes made in the signing of the first petitions would not be repeated in the petitions now out.

Warner Heads Committee
C. W. Warner, local justice of the peace and former city recorder, is chairman of the committee in charge of the circulation of the new petitions.

Although members of the Taxpayers and Voters league declare that the mandamus proceedings are to be dropped and many of them insist that the proceedings have already been dropped by the league, City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, who is representing City Clerk Wright at the hearing, said today that he had received no notice of dismissal of the proceedings.

It is expected that Blodgett will endeavor to carry the matter on through the superior court to a ruling.

Additional interest was added to the political fight here today when it became known that the members of the Taxpayers and Voters league have secured a permit to distribute circulars about the city.

Charge of Incompetency
According to Amos Huston, secretary of the Taxpayers and Voters league, many signers have already been secured on the new petitions which are being circulated.

The new petitions cite as the reason for the recall of the men the "incompetency" and that they are carrying on an "extravagant and wasteful government."

It is expected that the Civic Progress league, an organization backing the trustees and which is composed of most of the business men of the town, will start an active campaign against the spreading of any "rumors" which were freely quoted in the recent city disturbance. A meeting of the organization is expected to take place here in the near future.

Members of the Taxpayers and Voters league were informed through a paid advertisement in a Huntington Beach paper that they "had found out that legal technicalities were given precedence over equity and justice." They also announced that the office of Judge C. W. Warner, at 513 Main street, would be headquarters where those who wished to sign the petitions could do so. The article was signed by the publicity committee of the organization.

Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joyce recently purchased a lot on Cress street, Laguna Heights No. 3, from Walter Stromerson. They will move their house now on Central avenue to this new location.

Mrs. Carl Hofer has been staying at the San Juan Hot Springs for the last week.

Mrs. L. G. Covell of San Francisco is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Fred Mott. Mrs. Covell is well known in Santa Ana, being formerly a resident of that city.

Mrs. Florence Peet Hensen returned from Los Angeles on Friday afternoon after spending a week there.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunback and Mr. Yardley of Los Angeles spent the weekend at Laguna Beach. Mr. Hunback and Mr. Yardley have been auditing the books of the Skidmore Brothers corporation.

Robert Stephens of Fort Madison, Ia., is a guest of his brother, Roy H. Stephens. Mr. Stephens is leaving for San Francisco the last of this month for a two-year stay in the Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grinn of Santa Monica were visitors in Laguna Beach last Sunday. The Grinn family will soon return and will again occupy their Laguna Heights home on Cress street.

Miss Edith Hansen has been ill for a week and has not been at work. Miss Hansen is secretary to J. W. Skidmore of the Skidmore Brothers corporation.

Mrs. J. G. Bishop has been advised of the sudden death of her father, J. E. Carlyle, in Los Angeles.

Laguna Beach Community club scored high last Saturday evening on its dance. The hall was well filled and the music was good. The specialty dances, tag dances, Paul Jones, and others were greatly enjoyed. There will be no dance coming Saturday. The next dance will be on February 21.

Fullerton Man Writes Novel About Pioneers

FULLERTON, Feb. 11.—Richard Warner Borst, professor of English and journalism in the Fullerton junior college, is the author of a novel now appearing in serial form in the Overland Monthly. Though Mr. Borst has in the past contributed numerous poems to various publications, this is his first novel. It is entitled "A House Divided," and deals with Iowa family life of a past generation. The first installment appears in the February issue of the magazine.

COSTA MESA CLUB HEARS HEALTH TALK

COSTA MESA, Feb. 11.—The Friday afternoon club met in regular session Friday, giving one of the best programs of the club year.

Mrs. Haston, president, called the meeting to order and the regular business was disposed of quickly. A vocal solo, "Beloved It Is Morning," was sung by Mrs. Byrne, accompanied by Mrs. P. L. Bradford. Several readings were given by Mrs. Nancy Moore of Fullerton.

Dr. Beebe, representing the state bureau of child hygiene, gave a talk on the work accomplished by the bureau and vast field work to yet be done. The bureau is carrying on a health education campaign, in an endeavor to reduce the maternity and infant mortality of California. Miss Durgan, county nurse, asked co-operation to further the work of the health center clinic work. Mothers with young babies and children of pre-school age were asked to make use of the clinics held each month, the fourth Friday, at the clubhouse. Mr. Neil, of the Costa Mesa Herald, outlined paper work.

An all-day meeting will be held at the clubhouse February 20 to prepare for a bazaar to be held March 31. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Langford and Mrs. S. L. Walker were the hostesses.

Scout Head Takes Up Work In L. A.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 11.—C. E. Morris, scoutmaster here for four years, has located in Los Angeles, and has taken over work in the boys' department of the juvenile home.

When Morris came here, there were four Scouts. When he left, Scouts numbered 100. As a result of his work, the Scouts have completed a log cabin as their headquarters.

Morris was also the fourth vice president of the Epworth league of Orange county, the president of the Huntington Beach Epworth league, leader of the Baracca class of the Methodist church and general welfare worker.

He was picked from a list of more than 100 applicants for the position at the juvenile home. His work with boys here served as a recommendation. Morris declared that he would continue with his scouting work in Los Angeles and would perhaps organize a troop at the juvenile home.

Kenneth Ward, local scout, will fill the position vacated by Morris with the Southern California Edison company.

Double Egg Is Discovered On Cypress Ranch

Cypress is growing big "hen fruit" these days. Mrs. C. R. John, living west of Cypress, found a huge egg in a nest of her Black Jersey Giant pen this week and after measuring and weighing it, broke it open to find a double yolk egg, white of the outer egg filled a teacup more than half full. The inner egg has not been broken.

The egg weighs seven ounces, by the postoffice scales, and measured 10 3/4 inches from end to end, 7 3/4 inches around and the middle was about four times the size of the average egg.

The Black Jersey Giant is a very large strain of fowl, the hens weighing 9 to 10 pounds and the cockerels 12 to 14 pounds. Mrs. John recently weighed a 7 1/2 month old chicken which tipped the scales at seven pounds. The meat is very light, fine for eating and tastes much like turkey.

Operetta to Be Given by School

FULLERTON, Feb. 11.—Rehearsals are under way for the fantastically operetta, "The Belle of Barcelona," which is to be presented by local high school February 20 and 21. Gorgeous scenery, utilized in the recent Wampus ball in Los Angeles, has been secured for use in staging the play. The leading parts have been given Norma Lovering and Arthur Hardison.

FRONTAGE ON SEA OFFERED TO UNIVERSITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 11.—In an effort to further encourage the bringing of the Southern Branch of the University of California to Fullerton, the board of trustees of Newport Beach has taken steps to provide frontage for the use of the contemplated university as a site for the holding of its aquatic sports on Newport bay.

Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, presented the matter to the board, following a suggestion made by Assemblyman Hartnaff at a Fullerton banquet last week, to the effect that a university that would locate in northern Orange county had a still water bay in Orange county's harbor, 20 miles from its doors.

Trustee L. S. Wilkinson, seconded by Trustee H. C. Sloan, moved that Mr. Welch be authorized to negotiate the rents or the site of Newport Beach offered a site extending for a distance of 100 feet of bay frontage, for the use of the university for a long term of years.

The frontage will be on the city channel.

Fullerton Club Makes Objection To School Split

FULLERTON, Feb. 11.—The breaking up of the present Fullerton Union high school district, and the formation of a separate Brea-Olinda district to serve those communities, which was proposed in a recent petition filed with the county superintendent of schools, occasioned the passing of a resolution by the Fullerton Kiwanis club, at their meeting yesterday, deprecating such move. A committee was appointed to confer with other local organizations with a view to effecting, if possible, an amicable adjustment of the situation.

COSTA MESA MAN HURT.
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 11.—P. G. Owen of Costa Mesa was today recovering from injuries incurred when he fell six feet from the floor of the oil derrick where he was working to the ground, and fractured his left elbow. Owen, a rotary helper for the Southern California Drilling company, received treatment for the injury at the Emergency hospital.

LEGION TO GIVE PLAY.
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 11.—A special committee of the American Legion post was today at work preparing for a home talent show to be given in the city auditorium in the near future. G. H. Strachan, adjutant of the post, and N. H. Morse are member of the committee.

FIVE ARE HELD TO ANSWER FOR THEFT OF AUTO

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Gossard, Harvey Bryant, Wesley Crawford and B. W. Hostetter, charged with stealing an automobile belonging to G. S. Brown of this city, were held to answer to the superior court at their preliminary hearing before Judge C. W. Warner, justice of the peace, yesterday. Bond for the men was fixed at $500 surety or cash, or $1000 property bond. Mrs. Gossard was released on her own recognizance.

Testimony for the state was given by Jesse Bradshaw, chief of police at Corona; L. E. Getty, motorcycle officer of Corona; E. H. Nichols of Elsinore; G. S. Brown, owner of the car; Jack Tinsley, local chief of police; R. "Tex" Choat, local officer, and Gale S. Bergey, local constable.

Tinsley testified that Hostetter, a musician at a Seal Beach cafe, had confessed to taking the car from Huntington Beach. The young man took the car while under the influence of liquor, according to the testimony. Tinsley declared that Hostetter told him that he had taken the car as a "joke on Jimmie." It was later explained that Jimmie was a friend of Hostetter and that he owned a similar car. Tinsley's testimony was corroborated by Officer Choat.

The Riverside officers both told of the arrest of the group at Riverside.

According to the story told by Tinsley and other witnesses, Hostetter came to Huntington Beach January 22 late at night, and after spending the evening here took the machine which he thought was "Jimmie's" for a joke. He drove it to his home in Los Angeles. In the morning he discovered his mistake, and hid the car until night. In the evening he met Bryant and Gossard at the latter's home and told them about the machine. Bryant offered to take it off his hands, according to the confession recited by Tinsley. Hostetter then took Bryant to his home and turned the car over to him, and declared that he did not see it afterward.

Bryant endeavored to take all the blame for the machine, according to the testimony of Corona officials. The officers stated Bryant had told them that the others in the party which included Mr. and Mrs. Gossard and Wesley Crawford, did not know that the car was stolen.

Nichols, a rancher near Elsinore, declared in his testimony that he had been awakened by a pounding near his house at 4:30 a. m. January 23, and had got up at 5:30 a. m. to investigate the noise. Some work about the house kept him busy until 8:30 o'clock when he started to where he could see persons working in front of their headlights. As he drew near, he said that the car, with curtains up, which was stripped of its wheels, the generator, starter and tires. He notified local police of the car on his property and later went to Corona with them where he identified the car held there as the car which he had seen at his ranch.

HOW FAT I WAS

And How I Lost 50 Pounds in 8 Weeks With Marvelous New Parisian Discovery Which Causes Sensation in New York.

Simple, Easy—Does Away With Exercises, Worthless Reducing Creams and Garments.

No one can ever believe that once I weighed over 150 pounds. Those who knew me then and meet me say I look 10 years younger. I never could get clothes to fit me; all my friends called me FATTY, and even my own family thought I was a most unattractive woman. For years I suffered, until one day in Paris I discovered the real cause of excess fat—I found out exactly what to do to reduce, and I safely and easily lost 50 pounds in about two months. I have never regained one pound and never felt or looked better. I have given out my secret to hundreds of people who have obtained the most astonishing results. If YOU have tried everything known to reduce, and have not succeeded—if YOU feel so discouraged that you have decided to remain fat, NOW THERE IS HOPE FOR YOU. I suffered so much for years with this burden of fat that I am glad to be able to help all fat people by giving them a real way of reducing. Go to any good drug store, get a package of the latest French discovery called SAN-GRINA (remember the name), take two small tablets before each meal and watch a steady decrease take place in your weight. SAN-GRINA not only reduces you, but it acts as a general tonic—the moment you start taking it you will feel your entire system filled with strength and energy. SAN-GRINA IS GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS. It is the only thing I ever found to reduce me after I had tried diets, exercise, drugs, worthless reducing creams and garments. Remember that with SAN-GRINA I took off 50 pounds in two months. I have never regained a pound since, and my health is envied by everyone. On sale at White Cross, Kelley, Parsons, Matser's or Hadden-Dean Drug Stores.

SUPPORT HOME INDUSTRIES

It takes a roll call of Santa Ana industries such as was conducted by the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night to bring us to a realization of the number and variety of manufacturing industries now in successful operation in Santa Ana. Some of these institutions have been in business here for years, others have been established for less than a year.

It takes a roll call such as this to freshen our minds with the thought that it is our duty as Santa Ana citizens to support these industries. That can be done not only by patronizing them when occasion arises but also by writing to friends elsewhere who may be interested in the articles manufactured here.

Whatever else may be said concerning a place as an ideal one for manufacturing there is no argument quite so potent as the one that points to success enjoyed by plants already established in that place. Our duty as development directors is not confined to bringing in new industries by any means. We owe it to industries already here to help them maintain their payrolls by helping them to keep their wheels turning.

DISPLAY THE FLAG

It is expected that the committee of Santa Ana post, American Legion, appointed to carry out a plan for effective display of the American flag on Santa Ana streets on national holidays and other special occasions will meet with cordial co-operation from merchants and property owners of the city.

The proposal of the post is that there shall be placed at the edge of the sidewalk in front of each place of business a base into which an iron shaft can be screwed whenever the flag is to be displayed. When not in use the shaft will be removed. The members of the post who have discussed the project believe that 150 or 200 flags flying along the main streets of the city will make an impressive sight—as indeed they will.

SUMMER SHOES SALES

Shoe manufacturers are said to be contemplating a drive to bring about the wearing of different shoes for different seasons of the year. "Change the weight of your shoes when you doff the winter flannels," is to be their slogan. Naturally, enough, the shoe men hope to increase shoe sales by this campaign. Furthermore, their proposition is undoubtedly sound—for those who live "back East." A high, heavy, waterproof shoe for winter wear in the regions of snow, ice and slush is not suitable for warm and pleasant weather.

But the surprising thing about the announcement of this drive is the fact that it should be considered necessary. In this case the trade appears to be ahead of the manufacturers. The recent vogue for sandals and canvas pumps and oxfords has made the adult foot very nearly as comfortable and cool in the summer time as a child's. It is also true that in many northern cities where people live in well heated houses and work in warm offices they have come to wear light-weight shoes all the year around, simply protecting them against inclement weather by arctics or goshes. For them the pedal transition to summer is little more than the omission of the arctics and the wearing of more white shoes. Here in California summer shoes are comfortable the whole year around.

Only an age that does too much sitting down would ever think of including two pairs of trousers with one suit.

DISTANCE OR QUALITY

Louis Wolheim, star actor of "The Hairy Ape" and "What Price Glory," says he isn't afraid of radio. He doesn't see enough in it to inspire any fear. People who go around bragging about its achievements remind him of savages excited by seeing a fire lit by a burning glass. As he put it:

"A radio enthusiast rushes around to his friend and tells him with bated breath, 'I got Davenport, la, last night.' 'Well, what did you get?' asks his friend. To which the enthusiast replies, 'What did I get? Why I got Davenport!' You see, it doesn't really matter to him what he gets, just so he gets Davenport."

This, radio fans must admit, is a fair shaft, justified by the way most of them have acted so far in the game.

More and more, radio listeners turn their dials in quest of good music and entertaining or instructive addresses instead of being content with the merely mechanical victory over distance. And the more discrimination of that kind they show, the more radio means.

GERMS AND CAVES

There have been two great, true "human interest stories" running in the newspapers lately. Day after day, one or the other of them has "led the paper." In the opinion of editors and readers, each was, for the time being, the most important news the world had to offer.

One story told of the rush, with dog sleds, over hundreds of miles of Alaskan ice, to carry diphtheria serum to the village of Nome, Alaska. The other told of the struggle to save the life of a cave-explorer in Kentucky, imprisoned by a fallen boulder in a small underground passage.

In each case, the news judgment of the editors was doubtless right and the response of the reading public was human and natural. The appeal of those sick children in Nome, and of the terrific effort made to reach and save them, touched every sympathetic heart and roused instinctive admiration for heroic deeds. What a movie that would have made! At Cave City there was equal heroism on the part of the rescuers, toiling until exhausted in the close darkness of what threatened to be a living grave, and equal pity for the victim.

And yet—there were but a few dozen cases of diphtheria at Nome, and only half a dozen children had died. There are always tens of thousands of American children grievously sick from avoidable disease, and hundreds of thousands engaged in killing toil, and hardly anybody getting excited about it. Every year there are scores of men killed unnecessarily in the stifling darkness of mines, and nearly everybody else takes it just as a matter of course.

If we only had imagination enough to dramatize every-day dangers by wholesale instead of dramatizing an occasional, isolated, individual danger, it wouldn't take long to clean up the world's plagues and plague-spots and preventable perils.

A good many people seem to be earning their daily bread by raising wheat prices.

Propose Yacht Harbor

Long Beach Press-Telegram.
Alamitos Bay would be an ideal yacht harbor. Rejection of this statement is excused by the experience which yachtsmen are meeting at Wilmington. Last year their costly pleasure boats were damaged through contamination from petroleum. Now fish oil emanating, it is said, from a packing plant near the California Yacht club, is damaging the nicely painted hulls and calling for the expenditure of large sums to clear the boats of these accumulations.

The people who live in the vicinity of Alamitos Bay have not yet decided whether or not they want a yacht harbor. The yacht harbor means a yacht club. However, it means the favor of men of wealth who probably would be induced to build homes in that district, and whose investments would be an aid in promoting progress and prosperity.

Alamitos Bay will not be available as a yacht harbor until the Pacific Electric trestle is removed from the entrance to that waterway. This removal might be accomplished without serious interference with car service to Seal Beach, now that the company has a new railroad into that territory by way of Second Street and Naples. Pending establishment of a connecting bus service to Alamitos Bay Peninsula, Seal Beach cars will continue to be routed over the old line. The construction of jetties to define and protect the entrance to Alamitos Bay is a requirement for safe navigation, and the financing of this improvement may be one of the stumbling blocks.

Morocco Becomes Metric

Fresno Republican.
Surely there are compensations in every feature of life. Just for instance, we have been thinking of Morocco as one of the dump heaps of the modern world, a junk shop, a land where the Nordic race has had no function but to give a beneficial and not too remunerative rule. Morocco to us has been blessed with few of the things that make life worth living and cursed with turbaned natives decorated highly with the artificial rhetoric of sheik novelists.

Now we find that Morocco is better than we, if only in the main line of the rest of the world. Morocco has adopted the metric system. The metric system, be it remembered, does away with such atavistic remnants of the simple life as the use of the arm or the foot to measure with. We forgot just exactly why our ancient ancestors used the pint or the gallon for liquids instead of the litre, but we believe that the gallon measured a healthy appetite for mead at a sitting, a pint indicated an anemic inclination to drink. Whenever the facts, let the scientists relate. It remains that the modern world has gotten away from all old irregular measurements except for Great Britain and the United States.

The other exception, up to a recent date, was Morocco. Now that usually excited and never amicable district has decided to talk in terms of meters and grams and litres.

It makes us feel still more lonely. Perhaps it means that we shall get no more sheiks except what we produce ourselves.

The Headlight Question

San Francisco Chronicle.
Just now there is a spurt of enforcing the law forbidding the use on motor cars of the glaring headlights which blind the eyes of those approaching. So far as we know, it is confined to some parts of this city, and there is no reason to suppose that the spurt will be longer lived or more effective than the attempts at enforcement which have preceded it.

As we understand the law, it forbids anyone to drive a car on the public highway at night with blinding headlights, as described in the law.

If traffic men will enforce the law the evil will be cured in a week. If a car is found with an illegal headlight in the night time it is unlawful for any traffic officer to permit such a car to proceed. One experience of one driver sitting in his parked car waiting for daylight will reform forth with every offender who hears of it, and in a week they will all be cured. A traffic officer who permits such a car to turn a wheel except to get off the road is himself a lawbreaker.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.
HEALTH INSURANCE
It is considered good common sense to insure your house, your furniture, and your automobile. Almost every man carries a life insurance policy and also an accident policy. Now the house may never burn down, your furniture and automobile never be destroyed, and if you don't spend that money on insuring them, you would be that much better off financially. You would save a lot of money every year.

But if you did have a fire or an accident, what about it? Why, all the premiums you have paid for years would not cover the loss that the insurance companies make good to you. I say then that you consider it everyday common sense to take out insurance as above.

What about health insurance? I don't mean the kind that gives you so much per week when you are ill. That is likely a good business proposition in itself. However, I had in mind the form of health insurance that you should take out with your family doctor. You have confidence in him, and consult him on the rare occasions when you have a bad cold, or perhaps an injury. But as a matter of fact he has never had a real good all round "look" at your entire body. He will locate any early trouble in the nose or throat, any possibility of kidney, lung, or heart trouble, and thus get ahead of it. He will tell you the simple things that it will be necessary for you to do.

Just think of this for a moment. Your health is your greatest asset. It is really your most precious possession, and as far as it is humanly possible, you should insure it. Just think that all that it will cost you, good to you. I say then that you consider it everyday common sense to take out insurance as above.

The Mission of Rotary

Compiled by Dr. M. A. Patton, President Santa Ana Club.
One of the main objects of Rotary is International peace. This we proposed to bring about by promoting a common understanding among men, regardless of their race, creed, nation, or political belief; and in this common understanding shall rest a fellowship so deep, so secure, so thorough that the growth from it shall be practical good will and sound international amity; that is Rotary International's mission on earth. That is what has bound together, with irrefragable bonds of friendship and brotherhood, 103,000 men in nearly two thousand Rotary Clubs in twenty-eight nations.

What we Rotarians call the Rotary idea is today being carried forward in a splendid way with various modifications of detail, by such clubs as Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange, Optimist, Round Table and others. The ultimate goal of Rotary is all to be attained through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

It is the belief and hope of Rotarians that we are helping to tear down the barriers of political and religious prejudices, and it seems to us that the time is opportune that such barriers should be wiped out. We believe that Rotary is helping materially and practically in bringing about the use of the "Golden Rule" in business and professional life. We believe that this great organization of Rotary is meeting an urgent need in calling the attention of the world, that the greatest wealth we have to give, in fact the only real wealth, is that of unselfish service to our fellow-man.

THINGS LOOKING UP
An old farmer sat on his back steps and moodily regarded the ravages of the flood. A neighbor pulled up in a rattling wagon.
"Dhoo!" yelled the neighbor. "Say, Jed, your hogs was all washed down the creek an' they're all dead."
"How about Flaherty's hogs?" asked the farmer.
"They're gone, too."
"And Larsen's?"
"Washed away."
"Hmph!" ejaculated the rustic, cheering up. "'Tain't as bad as I thought!"—American Legion.

HICK? HE WAS A CHESTERFIELD!

"Say, Mame, you know that guy you interduced me to an' said he was a hick? You was wrong, Mame, all wrong! W'y, when he took me out and blowed me to a swell feed that set him back nearly a dollar, he poured his coffee out in th' saucer to cool an' I thought maybe he was what you said. But Mame—he never blowed it a-tall! He fanned it wit' his hat!"

BAD CASE

A man went to see his physician for advice as to how to be cured of the habit of snoring.
"Does your snoring disturb your wife?" asked the M. D.
"Does it disturb my wife?" echoed the patient. "Why, doc, it disturbs the whole congregation!"—American Legion.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pope
San Crosses cuzzin is a officer on a ship in the navy, and yestid-day he was at Sams house and he showed us fellows how to tie different knots, and last nite I was practicing some of them on a peece of string up in our setting room while pop was smoking and thinking, and I sed, Hay pop, are you bizzy?

Yes, Im bliding imported cassies in the air over this domestic cigar, wat do you want, pop sed.
Can you untie these 2 knots? I sed.
I doubt it, if therees one thing I hate to do, its untiny knots, but I suppose its my duty as a father to help you through lifes bitter trials, let me see the knots. pop sed.

These, I sed, and I handed him the peece of string and he started to undo the top knot, saying, Yee gods, this is wat the ancient Greeks use to refer to as a corker, owing to their custom of putting them in bottles and corking them up to display as hopelless cases.
And he worked at it about 5 minutes and got it undid, saying, Wow, tawk about the labors of Herculeus, dont mention them, Im exhausted.

How about the other one, pop, thats any one, I sed.
Theres no rest for the weery, pop sed. And he started to undo the 2nd one saying, Help aid sucker, if the other one was a corker this must be its mother in law, owch I nearly broke a finger nate then, confound it. Say, wat good will this dinky peece of string be to you after I get the knots out? he sed, and I sed, No good, its jest a loose peece of string.

Then wy the dooce are you ruinny my hole evening if you dont wont the string in the first place? pop sed, and I sed, I jest wanted to see if you could get the knots out, Sam Crosses cuzzin belongs to the navy and he showed me how to tie them.

You take this peece of string and get that knot out if it takes you tie yours a old man, pop sed.
Wich it only took me about a half a hour but it seemed longer on account of taking knots out being more monotonous than putting them in.

"Dear me!" said Mister Rubadub. Scrub Up Land.
"What are you 'dear-me-ing' for?" asked Peg Leg, the peddler, who had come with the Twins to this interesting place.

"Well, I guess you would say, 'Dear me,' too, if you had to fix up Grandpa Frog for spring," said Mister Rubadub.

"Does he get dirty?" asked Nancy.

"Dirty! Well, as he sleeps all winter right down in the mud at the bottom of Lilly Pond, I should say he does get dirty. The worst of it is, his green coat gets so faded you can't do a new one every year. I've never been able to fit him yet. Where he gets his spring outfit, I'll never tell you."

"It's as simple as eating chocolate drops," said Peg Leg. "I have green coats to sell. Perhaps I can fit him."

"I hope so," sighed Mister Rubadub. "Listen a minute, I think I hear him coming."

Sure enough—Grandpa Frog's deep voice was calling very plainly, "Rubadub, rubadub, chugalug! Rubadub, chugalug!"

"He's saying how do you in frog language," explained the little fairyman. "Then he called out, 'Come right in, Grandpa Frog, I'm ever so glad to see you. I hope you had a good winter's sleep and didn't get too thin.'"

Grandpa Frog hopped up, quite close. "Not bad! Not bad!" he croaked. "Left me hoarse, though. Then he added, 'And shabby.'"

"Well, I have seen you look better," admitted Rubadub. "Your clothes hang on you and they are all wrinkled up and yellow. You need a new suit."

"New suit," agreed Grandpa

DAWN

Hal
Cochran's
DAILY
POEM

THE sunrise announces another night gone and all of the world comes to life. There's much to be done with the coming of dawn that brings with it good things and strife.

Just how does the average day look to you, friend, when you've hopped out of bed and are dressing? Your mind starts to work and, just what is its trend, a gloomy outlook, or a blessing?

A great deal depends on the day just before. Did you finish the work that you started? Whatever's left over means just that much more for a new day, ere that day's departed.

The game you should play isn't just to get by, but to do every bit that you can. A lot is accomplished by people who try. It's true of a woman or man.

Tomorrow's the day you can test the thought out by getting today's work all through. And then, when you rise in the morning, no doubt, the dawn will look brighter to you.

Paved Bridge With Rubber

India Rubber World

The largest area of rubber street paving thus far laid in America, was completed late in October on the Michigan avenue bridge, in Chicago. Although two other notable bridge installations have been made in this country in the past year, nowhere else has such an extensive trial of this new paving material been made, nor has such an opportunity been afforded to demonstrate its qualities. We read:

"Numerous rigid requirements had to be met in the floor-covering of this bridge, because of the character of its construction and the uses to which it was put, that it seemed nothing but rubber could meet."

"One of the greatest difficulties the city of Chicago has experienced with the Michigan avenue bridge has been the large number of cars which have been wrecked on rainy days. By actual count this bridge clears 58,000 to 60,000 automobiles every 24 hours. Traffic is further complicated by the fact that busses turn about at one end of the bridge. When it is necessary to stop other traffic on the bridge to permit busses to turn, it becomes almost impossible to control the cars, which skid badly on rainy days, running into the cars ahead and often causing much damage."

"Further trouble was also caused by the fact that this is a double-deck bridge, with one driveway above another. When it rained, the water, oil and dirt on the upper driveway very naturally flowed down through the wood planking formerly used upon the trucks and cars on the lower level."

"Rubber paving has been laid across one entire span of the bridge, both of the sidewalk and of the roadway. This means a strip of rubber sidewalk 150 feet long and 12 feet wide, or 1,800 square feet, and also a strip of rubber roadway 150 feet long and 30 feet wide, or 4,500 square feet, making a total of 6,300 square feet of rubber surface."

"The new paving has eliminated both of the serious troubles encountered in the use of the bridge. Being of corrugated rubber, the paving bricks prevent skidding. Then the use of rubber paving enables the waterproof membrane to be put between the lower six-inch flooring and the upper planking that absolutely eliminates all leakage from the upper down to the lower roadway."

"Added to these desired characteristics will be the wonderful wearing qualities of rubber paving, which have been demonstrated in England, and it is hoped that years of test on bridge work in this country will show that it is not subject to the expansion and contraction which cause so much trouble with wooden blocks."

Good Luck Stones

The various precious and semi-precious stones have been endowed with certain talismanic properties. Sapphires are supposed to bring peace of mind, but they must be worn only by those of pure and holy life. The Chinese bury small bags of red stones under their houses to distract the attention of evil spirits. The lodestone is the actor's gem, for it fixes the attention of an audience. It is also considered a good stone for lovers to carry. Opals were once highly valued for the cure of eye diseases.—The Mentor Magazine.
